Actus Primus. Scena Prima.
[Act 1, Scene 1]

Enter a Company of Mutinous Citizens, with Statues, Clubs, and other weapons.

1. Citizen.
BEfore we proceed any further, heare me speake.
All.
Speake, speake.
1. Cit.
You are all resolu'd rather to dy then to famish?
All.
Resolu'd, resolu'd.
1. Cit.
First you know, Caius Martius is chiefe enemy to the people.
All.
We know't, we know't.
1. Cit.
Let us kill him, and we'll have corn at our own price. Is it a Verdict?

All.
No more talking on't; Let it be done, away, away

2. Cit.
One word, good Citizens.

1. Cit.
We are accounted poor Citizens, the Patricians good: what Authority surfets one, would releeue vs. If they would yelde vs but the superfluitie while it were wholesome, we might guess they releeued vs humanely: But they thinke we are too deere, the leannesse that afflicts vs, the object of our misery, is as an inuen-tory to particularize their abundance, our sufferance is a gaine to them. Let us reuenge this with our Pikes, ere we become Rakes. For the Gods know, I speake this in hunger for Bread, not in thirst for Reuenge.

2. Cit.
Would you proceed especially against Caius
Martius.

All.
Against him first: He's a very dog to the Commonalty.

2. Cit.
Consider you what Services he ha's done for his Country?

1. Cit.
Very well, and could bee content to giue him good report for't, but that hee payes himselfe with bee-ing proud.

All.
Nay, but speak not maliciously.

1. Cit.
I say vnto you, what he hath done Famouslie, he did it to that end: though soft conscience'd men can be content to say it was for his Countrey, he did it to please his Mother, and to be partly proud, which he is, euen to the altitude of his virtue.

2. Cit.
What he cannot helpe in his Nature, you account a Vice in him: You must in no way say he is co-uetous.

1. Cit.
If I must not, I neede not be barren of Accusations he hath faults (with surplus) to tyre in repetition.

Showts within.

What showts are these? The other side a'th City is risen:
why stay we prating heere? To th' Capitoll.

All.
Come, come.

1. Cit.
Soft, who comes heere?

Enter Menenius Agrippa.

2. Cit.
Worthy Menenius Agrippa, one that hath al wayes lou'd the people

1. Cit.
He's one honest enough, wold al the rest wer so.

Men.
What work's my Countrimen in hand?
Where go you with Bats and Clubs? The matter Speake I pray you.

2. Cit.
Our busines is not vnknowne to th'Senat, they haue had inkling this fortnight what we intend to do, (w)which now wee'l shew em in deeds: they say poore Suters haue strong breaths, they shal know we haue strong arms too.

Menen.
Why Masters, my good Friends, mine honest Neighbours, will you vndo your selues?

2. Cit.
We cannot Sir, we are vndone already.

Men.
I tell you Friends, most charitable care Haue the Patricians of you for your wants. Your suffering in this dearth, you may as well Strike at the Heauen with your staues, as lift them Against the Roman State, whose course will on The way it takes: cracking ten thousand Curbes Of more strong linke assunder, then can euer Appeare in your impediment. For the Dearth, The Gods, not the Patricians make it, and Your knees to them (not armes) must helpe. Alacke, You are transported by Calamity Thether, where more attends you, and you slander The Helmes o'th State; who care for you like Fathers, When you curse them, as Enemies.

2. Cit.
Care for vs? True indeed, they nere car'd for vs yet. Suffer vs to famish, and their Store-houses cramm'd with Graine: Make Edicts for Vsurie, to support Vsurers; repeale daily any wholsome Act established against the rich, and prouide more piercing Statutes daily, to chaine vp and restraine the poore. If the Warres eate vs not vppe, they will; and there's all the loue they beare vs.

Menen.
Either you must
Confesse your selues wondrous Malicious,
Or be accus'd of Folly. I shall tell you
A pretty Tale, it may be you have heard it,
But since it serves my purpose, I will venture
To scale it a little more.

2 Citizen.
Well, I'll hear it Sir: yet you must not thinke
To fobbe off our disgrace with a tale:
But and't please you deliver.

Men.
There was a time, when all the bodies members
Rebell'd against the Belly; thus accus'd it:
That onely like a Gulfe it did remaine
I'th midd'st a th'body, idle and vnactive,
Still cubbording the Viand, neuer bearing
Like labour with the rest, where th'other Instruments
Did see, and heare, deuise, instruct, walke, feele,
And mutually participate, did minister
Vnto the appetite; and affection common
Of the whole body, the Belly answer'd.

2. Cit.
Well sir, what answer made the Belly.

Men.
Sir, I shall tell you with a kinde of Smile,
Which ne're came from the Lungs, but eu'en thus:
For looke you I may make the belly Smile,
As well as speake, it taintingly replyed
To' th'discontented Members, the mutinous parts
That enuied his receite: eu'en so most fitly,
As you maligne our Senators, for that
They are not such as you.

2. Cit.
Your Bellies answer: What
The Kingly crown'd head, the vigilant eye,
The Counsailor Heart, the Arme our Souldier,
Our Steed the Legge, the Tongue our Trumpeter,
With other Muniments and petty helps
In this our Fabricke, if that they

Men.
What then? Fore me, this Fellow speakes.
What then? What then?

2. Cit.
Should by the Cormorant belly be restrain'd,
Who is the sinke a th'body.

Men.
Well, what then?

2. Cit.
The former Agents, if they did compleaine,
What could the Belly answer?

Men.
I will tell you,
If you'll bestow a small (of what you have little)
Patience awhile; you'st heare the Bellies answer.

2. Cit.

Y'are long about it

Men.

Note me this good Friend;
Your most graue Belly was deliberate,
Not rash like his Accusers, and thus answered.
True is it my Incorporate Friends (quoth he)
That I receiue the generall Food at first
Which you do liue vpon: and fit it is,
Because I am the Store-house, and the Shop
Of the whole Body. But, if you do remember,
I send it through the Riuers of your blood
Euen to the Court, the Heart, to th'seate o'th'Braine,
And through the Crankes and Offices of man,
The strongest Nerues, and small inferiour Veines
From me receiue that naturall competencie
Whereby they liue. And though that all at once
(You my good Friends, this sayes the Belly) marke me.

2. Cit.

I sir, well, well.

Men.

Though all at once, cannot
See what I do deliuer out to each,
Yet I can make my Awdit vp, that all
From me do backe receiue the Flowre of all,
And leave me but the Bran. What say you too't?

2. Cit.

It was an answer, how apply you this?

Men.

The Senators of Rome, are this good Belly,
And you the mutinous Members: For examine
Their Counsailes, and their Cares; disgest things rightly,
Touching the Weale a'th Common, you shall finde
No publique benefit which you receiue
But it proceeds, or comes from them to you,
And no way from your selues. What do you thinke?
You, the great Toe of this Assembly?

2. Cit.

I the great Toe? Why the great Toe?

Men.

For that being one o'th lowest, basest, poorest
Of this most wise Rebellion, thou goest formost:
Thou Rascal, that art worst in blood to run,
Lead'st first to win some vantage.
But make you ready your stiffe bats and clubs,
Rome, and her Rats, are at the point of battell,
The one side must haue baile.

Hayle, Noble Martius

Enter Caius Martius.

Mar.
Thanks. What's the matter you dissentious rogues
That rubbing the poore Itch of your Opinion,
Make your selues Scabs.

2. Cit.
We haue euer your good word.

Mar.
He that will giue good words to thee, wil flatter
Beneath abhorring. What would you haue, you Curres,
That like nor Peace, nor Warre? The one affrights you,
The other makes you proud. He that trusts to you,
Where he should finde you Lyons, findes you Hares:
Where Foxes, Geese you are: No surer, no,
Then is the coale of fire vpon the Ice,
Or Hailstone in th[e] Sun. Your Vertue is,
To make him worthy, whose offence subdues him,
And curse that Iustice did it. Who deserues Greatnes, Deserues your Hate: and your Affections are
A sickmans Appetite; who desires most that Which would encrease his euill. He that depends
Vpon your favours, swimmes with finnes of Leade,
And hewes downe Oakes, with rushes. Hang ye: trust ye?
With euery Minute you do change a Minde,
And call him Noble, that was now your Hate:
Him vilde, that was your Garland. What's the matter,
That in these seuerall places of the Citie,
You cry against the Noble Senate, who (Vnder the Gods) keepe you in awe, which else
Would feede on one another? What's their seeking?

Men.
For Corne at their owne rates, wherof they say
The Citie is well stor'd.

Mar.
Hang 'em: They say?
They'll sit by th'fire, and presume to know
What's done i'th Capitoll: Who's like to rise,
Who thrives, & who declines: Side factions, & giue out
Conjecturall Marriages, making parties strong,
And feebling such as stand not in their liking,
Below their cobled Shooes. They say ther's grain enough?
Would the Nobility lay aside their ruth,
And let me vse my Sword, I'de make a Quarrie
With thousands of these quarter'd slaues, as high
As I could picke my Lance.

Menen.
Nay these are almost thorougly perswaded:
For though abundantly they lacke discretion
Yet are they passing Cowardly. But I beseech you,
What sayes the other Troope?

Mar.
They are dissolu'd: Hang em;
They said they were an hungry, sigh'd forth Prouerbes
That Hunger-broke stone walls; that dogges must eate
That meate was made for mouths. That the gods sent not Corne for the Richmen onely: With these shreds
They vented their Complainings, which being answer'd
And a petition granted them, a strange one,
To breake the heart of generosity,
And make bold power looke pale, they threw their caps
As they would hang them on the hornes a' th Moone, Shooting their Emulation.

Menen.
What is graunted them?

Mar.
Fiue Tribunes to defend their vulgar wisdoms
Of their owne choice. One's Iunius Brutus,
Scinius Velutus, and I know not. Sdeath,
The rabble should haue first vnroo'st the City
Ere so preuayl'd with me; it will in time
Win vpon power, and throw forth greater Theames
For Insurrections arguing.

Menen.
This is strange.

Mar.
Go get you home you Fragments.

Enter a Messenger hastily.

Mess.
Where's Caius Martius?

Mar.
Heere: what's the matter?

Mes.
The newes is sir, the Volcies are in Armes.

Mar.
I am glad on't, then we shall ha mea
Our mustie superfluity. See our best Elders.

*Enter Scinius Velutus, Annius Brutus [Cominius], Titus Lartius, with other Senatours.*

1. Sen.
Martius 'tis true, that you haue lately told vs,
The Volces are in Armes.

Mar.
They haue a Leader,
Tullus Aufidius that will put you too't:
I sinne in enuying his Nobility:
And were I any thing but what I am,
I would wish me onely he.

Com.
You haue fought together?

Mar.
Were halfe to halfe the world by th'eares, & he vpon my partie, I'de reuolt to make Onely my warres with him. He is a Lion
That I am proud to hunt.

1. Sen.
Then worthy Martius,
Attend vpon Cominius to these Warres.

Com.
It is your former promise.

Mar.
Sir it is,
And I am constant: Titus Lucius, thou
Shalt see me once more strike at Tullus face.
What art thou stiffe? Stand'st out?

Tit.
No Caius Martius,
Ile leane vpon one Crutch, and fight with tother,
Ere stay behinde this Businesse.

Men.
Oh true-bred.

Sen.
Your Company to'th'Capitoll, where I know
Our greatest Friends attend vs.

Tit.
Lead you on: Follow Cominius, we must followe
you, right worthy your Priority.

Com.
Noble Martius.

Sen.
Hence to your homes, be gone.

Mar.
Nay let them follow,
The Volces have much Corne: take these Rats thither,
To gnaw their Garners. Worshipfull Mutiners,
Your valour puts well forth: Pray follow.

Exeunt.

Citizens steale away. Manet Sicin. & Brutus.

Sicin.
Was euer man so proud as is this Martius?

Bru.
He has no equall.

Sicin.
When we were chosen Tribunes for the people.

Bru.
Mark'd you his lip and eyes.

Sicin.
Nay, but his taunts.

Bru.
Being mou'd, he will not spare to gird the Gods.

Sicin.
Bemocke the modest Moone.

Bru.
The present Warres deououre him, he is growne
Too proud to be so valiant.
Sicin.
Such a Nature, tickled with good successe, dis daines the shadow which he treads on at noone, but I do wonder, his insolence can brooke to be commanded vn der Cominius?

Bru.
Fame, at the which he aymes,
In whom already he's well grae'd, cannot Better be held, nor more attain'd then by
A place below the first: for what miscarries
Shall be the Generals fault, though he performe
To th'vtmost of a man, and giddy censure
Will then cry out of Martius: Oh, if he Had borne the businesse.

Sicin.
Besides, if things go well,
Opinion that so stickes on Martius, shall
Of his demerits rob Cominius.

Bru.
Come: halfe all Cominius Honors are to Martius
Though Martius earn'd them not: and all his faults
To Martius shall be Honors, though indeed
In ought he merit not.

Sicin.
Let's hence, and heare
How the dispatch is made, and in what fashion
More then his singularity, he goes
Vpon this present Action.

Bru.
Let's along.
Exeunt.

[Act 1, Scene 2]

Enter Tullus Auffidius with Senators of Coriolus.

1. Sen.
So, your opinion is Auffidius,
That they of Rome are entred in our Counsailes,
And know how we proceede,

Auf.
Is it not yours?
What euer haue bin thought one in this State
That could be brought to bodily act, ere Rome
Had circumuention: 'tis not foure dayes gone
Since I heard thence, these are the words, I thinke
I haue the Letter heere: yes, heere it is;
They haue prest a Power, but it is not knowne
Whether for East or West: the Dearth is great,
The people Mutinous: And it is rumour'd,
Cominius, Martius your old Enemy
(Who is of Rome worse hated then of you)
And Titus Lartius, a most valiant Roman,
These three leade on this Preparation
Whether 'tis bent: most likely, 'tis for you:
Consider of it.

1. Sen.
Our Armie's in the Field:
We neuer yet made doubt but Rome was ready
To answer vs.

Auf.
Nor did you thinke it folly,
To keepe your great pretences vayl'd, till when
They needs must shew themselves, which in the hatching
It seem'd appear'd to Rome. By the discouery,
We [shal be] shortned in our ayme, which was
To take in many Townes, ere (almost) Rome
Should know we were a-foot.

2. Sen.
Noble Auffidius,
Take your Commission, hye you to your Bands,
Let vs alone to guard Corioles
If they set downe before's: for the remoue
Bring vp your Army: but (I thinke) you'l finde
Th'haue not prepar'd for vs.

Auf.
O doubt not that,
I speake from Certainties. Nay more,
Some parcels of their Power are forth already,
And onely hitherward. I leaue your Honors.
If we, and Caius Martius chance to meete,
'Tis sworne betweene vs, we shall euer strike
Till one can do no more.

All.
The Gods assist you.

Auf.
And keepe your Honors safe.

1. Sen.
Farewell

2. Sen.
Farewell.

All.
Farewell.

Exeunt. omnes.

Enter Volumnia and Virgilia, mother and wife to Martius:
They set them downe on two lowe stooles and sowe.

Volum.
I pray you daughter sing, or expresse your selfe in a more comfortable sort: If my Sonne were my Hus band, I should freelier reioyce in that absence wherein he wonne Honor, then in the embracements of his Bed, where he would shew most loue. When yet hee was but tender-bodied, and the onely Sonne of my womb; when youth with comelinesse pluck'd all gaze his way; when for a day of Kings entreaties, a Mother should not sel him an hour from her beholding; I considering how Honour would become such a person, that it was no better then Picture-like to hang by 'th wall, if renowne made it not stirre, was pleas'd to let him seeke danger, where he was like to finde fame: To a cruel Warre I sent him, from whence he return'd, his browes bound with Oake. I tell thee Daughter, I sprang not more in joy at first hearing he was a Man-child, then in first seeing he had proued himselfe a man.

Virg.
But had he died in the Businesse Madame, how then?

Volum.
Then his good report should have beene my Sonne, I therein would have found issue. Hears me pro-fesse sincerely, had I a dozen sons each in my love alike, and none lesse deere then thine, and my good Martius, I had rather had eleuen dye Nobly for their Country, then one voluptuously surfer out of Action.

Enter a Gentlewoman.

Gent.
Madam, the lady Valeria is come to visit you.

Virg.
Beseech you give me leave to retire my selfe.

Volum.
Indeed you shall not:
Me thinks, I hear hither your Husband's Drumme:
See him plucke Auffidius downe by 'th'haire:
(As children from a Beare) the Volces shunning him:
Me thinks I see him stampus thus, and call thus,
Come on you Cowards, you were got in feare
Though you were borne in Rome; his bloody brow
With his mail'd hand, then wiping, forth he goes
Like to a Haruest man, that task'd to mowe
Or all, or loose his hyre.

Virg.
His bloody Brow? Oh Jupiter, no blood.

Volum.
Away you Foole; it more becomes a man
Then gilt his Trophe. The breasts of Hecuba
When she did suckle Hector, look'd not louelier
Then Hectors forhead, when it spit forth blood
At Grecian sword. Contenning, tell Valeria
We are fit to bid her welcome.

Exit Gent.

Vir.
Heauens blesse my Lord from fell Auffidius

Vol.
Hee'l beat Auffidius head below his knee,
And treade vpon his necke.

Enter Valeria with an Vsher, and a Gentlewoman.

Val.
My Ladies both good day to you.

Vol.
Sweet Madam.

Vir.
I am glad to see your Ladyship.

Val.
How do you both? You are manifest house-kee pers. What are you sowing heere? A fine spotte in good faith. How does your little Sonne?

Vir.
I thanke your Lady-ship: Well good Madam.

Vol.
He had rather see the swords, and heare a Drum, then looke vpon his Schoolmaster.

Val.
A my word the Fathers Sonne: Ile sweare 'tis a very pretty boy. A my troth, I look'd vpon him a Wens day halfe an houre together: ha's such a confirm'd coun tenance. I saw him run after a gilded Butterfly, & when he caught it, he let it go agaime, and after it agaime, and o uer and ouer he comes, and vp agaime: catcht it again: or whether his fall enrag'd him, or how 'twas, hee did so set his teeth, and teare it. Oh, I warrant how he mammockt it.

Vol.
One on's Fathers moods.

Val.
Indeed la, tis a Noble childe.

Virg.
A Cracke Madam.

Val.
Come, lay aside your stitchery, I must haue you play the idle Huswife with me this afternoone.

Virg.
No (good Madam)
I will not out of doores.

Val.
Not out of doores?

Volum.
She shall, she shall.

Virg.
Indeed no, by your patience; Ile not ouer the threshold, till my Lord returne from the Warres.

Val.
Fye, you confine your selfe most vnreasonably:
Come, you must go visit the good Lady that lies in.

Virg.
I will wish her speedy strength, and visite her with my prayers: but I cannot go thither.

Volum.
Why I pray you.

Vlug.
'Tis not to saue labour, nor that I want loue.

Val.
You would be another Penelope: yet they say, all the yearne she spun in Vlisses absence, did but fill Athica full of Mothes. Come, I would your Cambrick were sensible as your finger, that you might leaue pricking it for pitie. Come you shall go with vs.

Vir.
No good Madam, pardon me, indeed I will not foorth.

Val.
In truth la go with me, and Ile tell you excellent newes of your Husband.

Virg.
Oh good Madam, there can be none yet.

Val.
Verily I do not iest with you: there came newes from him last night.

Vir.
Indeed Madam.

Val.
In earnest it's true; I heard a Senator speake it.
Thus it is: the Volcies haue an Army forth, against (whō)whom Cominius the Generall is gone, with one part of our Rōmane power. Your Lord, and Titus Lartius, are set down before their Citie Cariales, they nothing doubt preuailing, and to make it breefe Warres. This is true on mine Honor, and so I pray go with vs.

Virg.
Gieue me excuse good Madame, I will obey you in euery thing heereafter.

Vol.
Let her alone Ladie, as she is now:
She will but disease our better mirth.

Valeria.
In troth I thinke she would:
Fare you well then. Come good sweet Ladie.
Prythee Virgilia turne thy solemnnesse out a doore, And go along with vs.

Virgil.
No
At a word Madam; Indeed I must not,
I wish you much mirth.
Val.
Well, then farewell.
Exeunt. Ladies.

[Act 1, Scene 4]

Enter Martius, Titus Lartius, with Drumme and Colours, with Captaines and Souldiers, as before the City Corialus: to them a Messenger.

Martius.
Yonder comes Newes:
A Wager they haue met.
Lar.
My horse to yours, no.
Mar.
Tis done.
Lart.
Agreed.
Mar.

The Tragedie of Coriolanus.

Mar.
Say, ha's our Generall met the Enemy?
Mess.
They lye in view, but haue not spoke as yet.
Lart.
So, the good Horse is mine.
Mar.
Ile buy him of you.
Lart.
No, Ile nor sel, nor giue him: Lend you him I will For halfe a hundred yeares: Summon the Towne.
Mar.
How farre off lie these Armies?
Mess.
Within this mile and halfe.
Mar.
Then shall we heare their Larum, & they Ours.
Now Mars, I prythee make vs quicke in worke,
That we with smoaking swords may march from hence
To helpe our fielded Friends. Come, blow thy blast.

They Sound a Parley: Enter two Senators with others on the Walles of Corialus.

Tullus Aufidious, is he within your Walles?
1. Senat.
No, nor a man that feares you lesse then he,
That's lesser then a little:
Drum a farre off.
Hearke, our Drummes
Are bringing forth our youth: Wee'l breake our Walles
Rather then they shall pound vs vp our Gates,
Which yet seeme shut, we haue but pin'd with Rushes, They'le open of themselues. Harke you, farre off

Alarum farre off.
There is Auffidious. List what worke he makes Among'st your clouen Army.

Mart.
Oh they are at it.

Lart.
Their noise be our instruction. Ladders hoa.

Enter the Army of the Volces.

Mar.
They feare vs not, but issue forth their Citie.
Now put your Shields before your hearts, and fight
With hearts more proofe then Shields.
Aduance braue Titus,
They do disdaine vs much beyond our Thoughts, which makes me sweat with wrath. Come on my fellows
He that retires, Ile take him for a Voice,
And he shall feele mine edge.

Alarum, the Romans are beat back to their Trenches
Enter Martius Cursing.

Mar.
All the contagion of the South, light on you,
You Shames of Rome: you Heard of Byles and Plagues
Plaister you o're, that you may be abhor'd
Farther then seene, and one infect another
Against the Winde a mile: you soules of Geese,
That beare the shapes of men, how haue you run
From Slaues, that Apes would beate; Pluto and Hell,
All hurt behinde, backes red, and faces pale
With flight and agued feare, mend and charge home,
Or by the fires of heauen, Ile leaue the Foe,
And make my Warres on you: Looke too't: Come on,
If you'l stand fast, wee'll beate them to their Wiuues,
As they vs to our Trenches followes.

Another Alarum, and Martius followes them to gates, and is shut in.

So, now the gates are ope: now proue good Seconds,
'Tis for the followers Fortune, widens them,
Not for the flyers: Marke me, and do the like.

Enter the Gati.

1. Sol.
Foole-hardinesse, not I.

2. Sol.
Nor I

1. Sol.
See they haue shut him in.
Alarum continues

All.
To th'pot I warrant him.

Enter Titus Lartius

Tit.
What is become of Martius?

All.
Slaine (Sir) doubtlesse.

1. Sol.
Following the Flyers at the very heeles,
With them he enters: who vpon the sodaine
Clapt to their Gates, he is himselfe alone,
To answer all the City.

Lar.
Oh Noble Fellow!
Who sensibly out-dares his senselesse Sword,
And when it bowes, stand'st vp: Thou art left Martius,
A Carbuncle intire: as big as thou art
Weare not so rich a Iewell. Thou was't a Souldier
Euen to Calmes wish, not fierce and terrible
Onely in strokes, but with thy grim lookes, and
The Thunder-like percussion of thy sounds
Thou mad'st thine enemies shake, as if the World
Were Feauorous, and did tremble.

Enter Martius bleeding, assaulted by the Enemy.

1. Sol.
Looke Sir.

Lar.
O 'tis Martius.
Let's fetch him off, or make remaine alike.

They fight, and all enter the City.

[Act 1, Scene 5]

Enter certaine Romanes with spoiles.

1. Rom.
This will I carry to Rome.

2. Rom.
And I this.

3. Rom.
A Murrain on't, I tooke this for Siluer.

Exeunt.

Alarum continues still a-farre off.

Enter Martius, and Titus with a Trumpet.

Mar.
See heere these mouers, that do prize their hours/>
At a crack'd Drachme: Cushions, Leaden Spoones, Irons of a Doit, Dublets that Hangmen would Bury with those that wore them. These base slaues,
Ere yet the fight be done, packe vp, downe with them.
And harke, what noyse the Generall makes: To him
There is the man of my soules hate, Auffidious, Piercing our Romanes: Then Valiant Titus take Conuenient Numbers to make good the City, Whil'st I with those that haue the spirit, wil haste To helpe Cominius

Lar.
Worthy Sir, thou bleed'st, Thy exercise hath bin too violent, For a second course of Fight.

Mar.
Sir, praise me not: My worke hath yet not warm'd me. Fare you well: The blood I drop, is rather Physical Then dangerous to me: To Auffidious thus, I will appear (and fight.

Lar.
Now the faire Goddesse Fortune, Fall deepe in loue with thee, and her great charmes Misguide thy Opposers swords, Bold Gentleman: Prosperity be thy Page.

Mar.
Thy Friend no lesse, Then those she placeth highest: So farewell.

Lar.
Thou worthiest Martius, Go sound thy Trumpet in the Market place, Call thither all the Officers a'th'Towne, Where they shall know our minde. Away.
Exeunt.

[Act 1, Scene 6]

Enter Cominius as it were in retire, with soldiers.

Com.
Breath you my friends, wel fought, we are come (off, Like Romans, neither foolish in our stands, Nor Cowardly in retyre: Beleeue me Sirs, We shall be charg'd againe. Whiles we haue strooke By Interims and conueyng gusts, we haue heard The Charges of our Friends. The Roman Gods, Leade their successes, as we wish our owne, That both our powers, with smiling Fronts encountering, May gie you thankfull Sacrifice. Thy Newes? Thy Newes?

Enter a Messenger.

Mess.
The Cittizens of Corioles haue yssued, And giuen to Lartius and to Martius Battaile: I saw The Tragedie of Coriolanus.

I saw our party to their Trenches driuen, And then I came away.
Com.
Though thou speakest truth,
Me thinkes thou speak'st not well. How long is't since?
Mes.
Aboue an houre, my Lord.
Com.
'Tis not a mile: briefly we heard their drummes.
How could'st thou in a mile confound an houre,
And bring thy Newes so late?
Mes.
Spies of the Voices
Held me in chace, that I was forc'd to wheele
Three or foure miles about, else had I sir
Halfe an houre since brought my report.

Enter Martius.

Com.
Whose yonder,
That doe's appeare as he were Flead? O Gods,
He has the stampe of Martius, and I haue
Before time seene him thus.
Mar.
Come I too late?
Com.
I, if you come not in the blood of others,
But mantled in your owne.
Mart.
Oh! let me clip ye
In Armes as sound, as when I woo'd in heart;
As merry, as when our Nuptiall day was done,
And Tapers burnt to Bedward.
Com.
Flower of Warriors, how is't with Titus Lartius?
Mar.
As with a man busied about Decrees:
Condemning some to death, and some to exile,
Ransoming him, or pittyng, threatning th' other;
Holding Coriopes in the name of Rome,
Euen like a fawning Grey-hound in the Leash,
To let him slip at will.
Com.
Where is that Slaue
Which told me they had beate you to your Trenches?
Where is he? Call him hither.
Mar.
Let him alone,
He did informe the truth: but for our Gentlemen,
The common file, (a plague-Tribunes for them)
The Mouse ne’re shunn’d the Cat, as they did budge
From Rascals worse then they.
Com.
But how preuail’d you?
Mar.
Will the time serue to tell, I do not thinke:
Where is the enemy? Are you Lords a’th Field?
If not, why cease you till you are so?
Com.
Martius, we haue at disaduantage fought,
And did retyre to win our purpose.
Mar.
How lies their Battell? Know you on *(w)*which side
They haue plac’d their men of trust?
Com.
As I guesse Martius,
Their Bands i’th Vaward are the Antients
Of their best trust: O’re them Affidious,
Their very heart of Hope.
Mar.
I do beseech you,
By all the Battailes wherein we haue fought,
By th’Blood we haue shed together,
By th’Vowes we haue made
To endure Friends, that you directly set me
Against Affidious, and his (Antiats,
And that you not delay the present (but Filling the aire with Swords aduanc’d) and Darts,
We proue this very houre.
Com.
Though I could wish,
You were conducted to a gentle Bath,
And Balmes applyed to you, yet dare I neuer
Deny your asking, take your choice of those
That best can ayde your action.
Mar.
Those are they
That most are willing; if any such be heere,
(As it were sinne to doubt) that loue this painting
Wherein you see me smear’d, if any feare
Lessen his person, then an ill report:
If any thinke, braue death out-weighes bad life,
And that his Countries deerer then himselfe,
Let him alone: Or so many so minded,
Wauue thus to expresse his disposition,
And follow Martius.

They all shout and wauue their swords, take him vp in their Armes, and cast vp their Caps.

Oh me alone, make you a sword of me:
If these shewes be not outward, which of you
But is foure Voices? None of you, but is Able to bear against the great Auffidius
A Shield, as hard as his. A certaine number (Though thankes to all) must I select from all:
The rest shall bear the businesse in some other fight
(As cause will be obey'd:) please you to March,
And foure shall quickly draw out my Command,
Which men are best inclin'd.
Com.
March on my Fellowes:
Make good this ostentation, and you shall Divide in all, with vs.
Exeunt

[Act 1, Scene 7]

_Titus Lartius, having set a guard vpon Carioles, going with Drum and Trumpet toward Cominius, and Caius Martius, Enters with a Lieutenant, other Souldiours, and a Scout._

Lar.
So, let the Ports be guarded; keepe your Duties
As I haue set them downe. If I do send, dispatch
Those Centuries to our ayd, the rest will serue
For a short holding, if we loose the Field,
We cannot keepe the Towne.

Lieu.
Feare not our care Sir.

Lart.
Hence; and shut your gates vpon's:
Our Guider come, to th'Roman Campe conduct vs.
Exit

[Act 1, Scene 8]

_Alarum, as in Battaille._

Mar.
Ile fight with none but thee, for I do hate thee
Worse then a Promise-breaker.

Auffid.
We hate alike:
Not Affricke ownes a Serpent I abhorre
More then thy Fame and Enuy: Fix thy foot.

Mar.
Let the first Budger dye the others Slaue,
And the Gods doome him after.

Auf.
If I flye _Martius_, hollow me like a Hare.

Mar.
Within these three hours Tallus
Alone I fought in your Coriokes walles,
And made what worke I pleas'd: 'Tis not my blood,
Wherein thou seest me maskt, for thy Reuenge
Wrench vp thy power to th'highest.

Auf.
Wer't thou the Hector,
That was the whip of your brag'd Progeny,
Thou should'st not scape me heere.
Here they fight, and certaine Voices come in the aye de Auffi. Martius fights til they be driven in breathles.
Officious and not valiant, you haue sham'd me
In your condemned Seconds.
Flourish.

[Page 7]
The Tragedie of Coriolanus.

[Act 1, Scene 9]

Flourish. Alarum. A Retreat is sounded. Enter at one Doore Cominius, with the Romans: At another Doore Martius, with his Arme in a Scarfe.

Com.
If I should tell thee o're this thy dayes Worke,
Thou't not beleuee thy deeds: but Ie report it,
Where Senators shall mingle teares with smiles,
Where great Patricians shall attend, and shrug,
I'th'end admire: where Ladies shall be frighted,
And gladly quak'd, heare more: where the dull Tribunes,
That with the fustie Plebeans, hate thine Honors,
Shall say against their hearts, We thanke the Gods
Our Rome hath such a Souldier.
Yet cam'st thou to a Morsell of this Feast,
Hauing fully din'd before.

Enter Titus with his Power, from the Pursuit.

Titus Lartius.
Oh Generall:
Here is the Steed, wee the Caparison:
Hadst thou beheld

Martius.
Pray now, no more:
My Mother, who ha's a Charter to extoll her Bloud,
When she do's prays me, grieues me:
I haue done as you haue done, that's what I can,
Induc'd as you haue beene, that's for my Countrey:
He that ha's but effected his good will,
Hath ouerta'ne mine Act

Com.
You shall not be the Graue of your deseruing,
Rome must know the value of her owne:
"Twere a Concealement worse then a Theft,
No lesse then a Traducement,
To hide your doings, and to silence that,
Which to the spire, and top of prayses vouch'd,
Would seeme but modest: therefore I beseech you,
In signe of what you are, not to reward
What you haue done, before our Armie heare me.

Martius.
I haue some Wounds vpon me, and they smart
To heare themselues remembred.

Com.
Should they not:
Well might they fester 'gainst Ingratitude,
And tent themselues with death: of all the Horses,
Whereof we haue ta'ne good, and good store of all,
The Treasure in this field archieved, and Citie,
We render you the Tenth, to be ta'ne forth,
Before the common distribution,
At your onely choyse.

Martius.
I thanke you Generall:
But cannot make my heart consent to take
A Bribe, to pay my Sword: I doe refuse it,
And stand vpon my common part with those,
That haue beheld the doing.

A long flourish. They all cry, Martius, Martius, cast vp their Caps and Launces: Cominius and Lartius stand bare.

Mar.
May these same Instruments, which you prophane, Neuer sound more: when Drums and Trumpets shall I'th'field proue flatterers, let Courts and Cities be Made all of false-fac'd soothing:
When Steele growes soft, as the Parasites Silke,
Let him be made an Ouerture for th'Warres:
No more I say, for that I haue not wash'd
My Nose that bled, or foyl'd some debile Wretch,
Which without note, here's many else haue done,
You shoot me forth in acclamations hyperbolical,
As if I lou'd my little should be dieted
In prayses, sawc'est with Lyes.

Com.
Too modest are you:
More cruell to your good report, then gratefull
To vs, that glue you truly: by your patience,
If'gainst your selfe you be incens'd, wee'le put you (Like one that meanes his proper harme) in Manacles,
Then reason safely with you: Therefore be it knowne,
As to vs, to all the World, That Caius Martius Wearres this Warres Garland: in token of the which,
My Noble Steed, knowne to the Campe, I giue him,
With all his trim belonging; and from this time,
For what he did before Corioli, call him,
With all th’applause and Clamor of the Hoast,
Marcus Caius Coriolanus. Beare th' addition Nobly euer?

Flourish. Trumpets sound, and Drums.

Omnes.
Marcus Cajus Coriolanus

Martius.
I will goe wash:
And when my Face is faire, you shall perceiue
Whether I blush or no: howbeit, I thanke you,
I meane to stride your Steed, and at all times
To vnder-crest your good Addition,
To th'fairenesse of my power.

Com.
So, to our Tent:
Where ere we doe repose vs, we will write
To Rome of our successse: you Titus Lartius
Must to Corioli backe, send vs to Rome
The best, with whom we may articulate,
For their owne good, and ours.

Lartius.
I shall, my Lord.

Martius.
The Gods begin to mocke me:
I that now refus'd most Princely gifts,
Am bound to begge of my Lord Generall.

Com.
Tak't, 'tis yours: what is't?

Martius.
I sometime lay here in Corioli,
At a poore mans house: he vs'd me kindly,
He cry'd to me: I saw him Prisoner:
But then Auffidius was within my view,
And Wrath o're-whelm'd my pittie: I request you
To giue my poore Host freedome.

Com.
Oh well begg'd:
Were he the Butcher of my Sonne, he should Be free, as is the Winde: deliuer him, Titus.

Lartius.
Martius, his Name.

Martius.
By Jupiter forgot:
I am wearie, yea, my memorie is tyr'd:
Haue we no Wine here?

Com.
Goe we to our Tent:
The bloud vpon your Visage dryes, 'tis time
It should be lookt too: come.

Exeunt.
A flourish. Cornets. Enter Tullus Aufidius bloodie, with two or three Souldiers.

Aufi.
The Towne is ta'ne.

Sould.
'Twill be deliver'd backe on good Condition.

Aufid.
Condition?
I would I were a Roman, for I cannot,
Being a Vole, be that I am. Condition?
What good Condition can a Treatie finde
I'th'part that is at mercy? fife times, Martius,
I haue fought with thee; so often hast thou beat me:
And would'st doe so, I thinke, should we encounter
As[Page 8] The Tragedie of Coriolanus.
As often as we eate. By th'Elements,
If ere againe I meet him beard to beard,
He's mine, or I am his: Mine Emulation
Hath not that Honor in't it had: For where
I thought to crush him in an equall Force,
True Sword to Sword: Ile potche at him some way,
Or Wrath, or Craft may get him.

Sol.
He's the diuell.

Auf.
Bolder, though not so subtle: my valors poison'd,
With onely suff'reng staine by him: for him
Shall fyle out of it selfe, nor sleepe, nor sanctuary,
Being naked, sicke; nor Phane, nor Capitoll,
The Prayers of Priests, nor times of Sacrifice:
Embarquements all of Fury, shall lift vp
Their rotten Priuiledge, and Custome 'gainst
My hate to Martius. Where I finde him, were it
At home, vpon my Brothers Guard, euen there
Against the hospitable Canon, would I
Wash my fierce hand in's heart. Go you to th' Citie, Learne how 'tis held, and what they are that must Be Hostages for Rome.

Soul.
Will not you go?

Auf.
I am attended at the Cyprus groue. I pray you
(’Tis South the City Mils) bring me word thither
How the world goes: that to the pace of it
I may spurre on my iourney.

Soul.
I shall sir.

Actus Secundus.
Act 2, Scene 1

Enter Menenius with the two Tribunes of the people, Sicinius & Brutus.

Men.
The Agurer tells me, we shall have News to night.
Bru.
Good or bad?
Men.
Not according to the prayer of the people, for they love not Martius.
Sicin.
Nature teaches Beasts to know their Friends.
Men.
Pray you, who does the Wolfe love?
Sicin.
The Lambe.
Men.
I, to devour him, as the hungry Plebeians would the Noble Martius.
Bru.
He's a Lambe indeed, that baes like a Beare.
Men.
Hee's a Beare indeede, that liues like a Lambe.
You two are old men, tell me one thing that I shall ask you.
Both.
Well sir.
Men.
In what enormity is Martius poore in, that you two haue not in abundance?
Bru.
He's poore in no one fault, but stor'd withal.
Sicin.
Especially in Pride.
Bru.
And topping all others in boasting.
Men.
This is strange now: Do you two know, how you are censured here in the City, I mean of vs a'th'right hand File, do you?
Both.
Why? how are we censur'd?
Men.
Because you talke of Pride now, will you not be angry.
Both.
Well, well sir, well.
Men.
Why 'tis no great matter: for a very little theefe of Occasion, will rob you of a great deale of Patience: Giue your dispositions the reines, and bee angry at your pleasures (at the least) if you take it as a pleasure to you, in being so: you blame Martius for being proud.

Brut.
We do it not alone, sir.

Men.
I know you can doe very little alone, for your helps are many, or else your actions would growe won drous single: your abilities are to Infant-like, for doing much alone. You talke of Pride: Oh, that you could turn your eyes toward the Napes of your neckes, and make but an Interiour suruey of your good selues. Oh that you could.

Both.
What then sir?

Men.
Why then you should discouer a brace of vn meriting, proud, violent, testie Magistrates (alias Fooles) as any in Rome.

Sicin.
Menenius, you are knowne well enough too.

Men.
I am knowne to be a humorous Patritian, and one that loues a cup of hot Wine, with not a drop of alay ring the first complaint, hasty and Tinder-like vppon, to triuiall motion: One, that conuerses more with the But tocke of the night, then with the forhead of the morning. What I think, I utter, and spend my malice in my breath. Meeting two such Weales men as you are (I cannot call you Licurgusses,) if the drinke you giue me, touch my Palat aduersly, I make a crooked face at it, I can say, your Worshippes haue deliuer'd the matter well, when I finde the Asse in compound, with the Maior part of your syllables. And though I must be content to beare with those, that say you are reuerend graue men, yet they lye deadly, that tell you haue good faces, if you see this in the Map of my Microcosme, followes it that I am knowne well e nough too? What harme can your beesome Conspectui ties gleane out of this Charra cter, if I be knowne well e nough too.

Bru.
Come sir come, we know you well enough.

Menen.
You know neither mee, your selues, nor any thing: you are ambitious, for poore knaues cappes and legges: you weare out a good wholesome Forenoone, in hearing a cause betweene an Orendge wife, and a Forset-seller, and then reiourne the Controuersie of three-pence to a second day of Audience. When you are hearing a matter betweene party and party, if you chaunce to bee pinch'd with the Collike, you make faces like Mum mers, set up the bloodie Flagge against all Patience, and in roaring for a Chamber-pot, dismisse the Controuersie bleeding, the more intangled by your hearing: All the peace you make in their Cause, is calling both the parties
Knaues. You are a payre of strange ones.

Bru.
Come, come, you are well vnderstood to bee a perfecter gyber for the Table, then a necessary Bencher in the Capitoll.

Men.
Our very Priests must become Mockers, if they shall encounter such ridiculous Subjects as you are, when you speake best vnto the purpose. It is not woorth the wagging of your Beards, and your Beards deserue not so honourable a graue, as to stuffe a Botchers Cushion, or to be intomb'd in an Asses Packe-saddle; yet you must bee saying, Martius is proud: who in a cheape estimation, is worth all your predecessors, since Deucalion, though per aduenture some of the best of 'em were hereditarie hang men. Godden to your Worships, more of your conuersation would infect my Braine, being the Heardsmen of the Beastly Plebeans. I will be bold to take my leau of you.

Bru. and Scie. Aside.

The Tragedie of Coriolanus.

Enter Volumnia, Virgilia, and Valeria.

How now (my as faire as Noble) Ladyes, and the Moone were shee Earthly, no Nobler; whither doe you follow your Eyes so fast?

Volum.
Honorable Menenius, my Boy Martius approches: for the loue of Iuno let's goe.

Menen.
Ha? Martius comming home?

Volum.
I, worthy Menenius, and with most prosperous approbation.

Menen.
Take my Cappe Iupiter, and I thanke thee:
hoo, Martius comming home?

2. Ladies.
Nay, 'tis true.

Volum.
Looke, here's a Letter from him, the State hath another, his Wife another, and (I thinke) there's one at home for you.

Menen.
I will make my very house reele to night:
A Letter for me?

Virgil.
Yes certaine, there's a Letter for you, I saw't.

Menen.
A Letter for me? it giues me an Estate of se uen yeeres health; in which time, I will make a Lippe at the Physician: The most soueraigne Prescription in Galen, is but Emperickquatique; and to this Preseruatiue, of no better report then a Horse-drench. Is he not wounded?
he was wont to come home wounded?

Virgil.
Oh no, no, no.

Volum.
Oh, he is wounded, I thanke the Gods for't.

Menen.
So doe I too, if it be not too much: brings a
Victorie in his Pocket? the wounds become him.

Volum.
On's Browes: Menenius, hee comes the third time home with the Oaken Garland.

Menen.
Ha's he disciplin'd Auffidius soundly?

Volum.
Titus Lartius writes, they fought together, but Auffidius got off.

Menen.
And 'twas time for him too, Ile warrant him that: and he had stay'd by him, I would not haue been so fiddious'd, for all the Chests in Carioles, and the Gold that's in them. Is the Senate possest of this?

Volum.
Good Ladies let's goe. Yes, yes, yes: The Senate ha's Letters from the Generall, wherein hee giues my Sonne the whole Name of the Warre: he hath in this action out-done his former deeds doubly.

Valer.
In troth, there's wondrous things spoke of him.

Menen.
Wondrous: I, I warrant you, and not with out his true purchasing.

Virgil.
The Gods graunt them true.

Volum.
True? pow waw.

Mene.
True? Ie be sworne they are true: where is hee wounded, God saue your good Worships? Martius is comming home: hee ha's more cause to be proud: where is he wounded?

Volum.
Ith' Shoulder, and ith' left Arme: there will be large Cicatrices to shew the People, when hee shall stand for his place: he receiued in the repulse of Tarquin seuen hurts ith' Body.

Mene.
One ith' Neck, and two ith' Thigh, there's nine that I know.

Volum.
Hee had, before this last Expedition, twentie fiue Wounds vpon him.

Mene.
Now it's twentie seuen; euery gash was an Enemies Graue. Hearke, the Trumpets.

Volum.
These are the Vshers of Martius: Before him, hee carryes Noyse; And behinde him, hee leaues Teares: Death, that darke Spirit, in's neruie Arme doth lye, Which being aduanc'd, declines, and then men dye.

A Sennet. Trumpets sound.

Enter Cominius the Generall, and Titus Latius: betweene them Coriolanus, crown'd with an Oaken Garland, with Captaines and Soul diers, and a Herauld.

Herauld.
Know Rome, that all alone Martius did fight Within Corioles Gates: where he hath wonne, With Fame, a Name to Martius Caius: These in honor followes Martius Caius Coriolanus. Welcome to Rome, renowned Coriolanus.

Sound. Flourish.

All.
Welcome to Rome, renowned Coriolanus.

Coriol.
No more of this, it does offend my heart: pray now no more.

Com.
Looke, Sir, your Mother.

Coriol.
Oh! you haue, I know, petition'd all the Gods for my prosperitie.

Kneels.

Volum.
Nay, my good Souldier, vp: My gentle Martius, worthy Cains,
And by deed-achieving Honor newly nam'd,
What is it (Coriolanus) must I call thee?
But oh, thy Wife.

Corio.
My gracious silence, hayle:
Would'st thou have laugh'd, had I come Coffin'd home,
That weep'st to see me triumph? Ah my deare,
Such eyes the Widowes in Carioles were,
And Mothers that lacke Sonnes.

Mene.
Now the Gods Crowne thee.

Com.
And liue you yet? Oh my sweet Lady, pardon.

Volum.
I know not where to turne.
Oh welcome home: and welcome Generall,
And y'are welcome all.

Mene.
A hundred thousand Welcomes:
I could weepe, and I could laugh,
I am light, and heauie; welcome:
A Curse begin at very root on's heart,
That is not glad to see thee.
You are three, that Rome should dote on:
Yet by the faith of men, we haue
Some old Crab-trees here at home,
That will not be grafted to your Rallish.
Yet welcome Warriors:
Wee call a Nettle, but a Nettle;
And the faults of fooles, but folly.

Com.
Euer right.

Cor.
Meneius, euer, euer.

Herauld.
Giue way there, and goe on.

Cor.
Your Hand, and yours?
Ere in our owne house I doe shade my Head,
The good Patricians must be visited,
From whom I haue receiu'd not onely greetings,
But with them, change of Honors.

Volum.
I haue liued,
To see inherited my very Wishes,
And the Buildings of my Fancie:
Onely there's one thing wanting,
Which (I doubt not) but our Rome
Will cast vpon thee.

Cor.
Know, good Mother,
I had rather be their servant in my way,
Then sway with them in theirs.

Com.
On, to the Capitol.
Flourish. Cornets.
Exeunt. in State, as before.
Enter

The Tragedy of Coriolanus.
Enter Brutus and Scicioius

Brutus.
All tongues speake of him, and the bleared sights
Are spectacled to see him. Your prattling Nurse
Into a rapture lets her Baby cry,
While she chats him: the Kitchin Malkin pinnes
Her richest Lockram 'bout her reechie necke,
Clambring the Walls to eye him:
Stalls, Bulkes, Windowes, are smother'd vp,
Leades fill'd, and Ridges hors'd
With variable Complexions; all agreeing
In earnestnesse to see him: seld-showne Flamins
Doe presse among the popular Throngs, and puffe
To winne a vulgar station: our veyl'd Dames
Commit the Warre of White and Damaske
In their nicely gawded Cheekes, toth' wanton spoyle
Of Phoebus burning Kisses: such a poother,
As if that whatsoever God, who leades him,
Were slyly crept into his humane powers,
And gaue him gracefull posture.

Scicin.
On the suddaine, I warrant him Consull.

Brutus.
Then our Office may, during his power, goe sleepe.

Scicin.
He cannot temp'rately transport his Honors,
From where he should begin, and end, but will Lose those he ha [...] wonne.

Brutus.
In that there's comfort.

Scici.
Doubt not,
The Commoners, for whom we stand, but they Vpon their ancient mallice, will forget
With the least cause, these his new Honors,
Which that he will giue them, make I as little question,
As he is proud to doo't.

Brutus.
I heard him sweare,
Were he to stand for Consull, neuer would he Appeare i'th'Market place, nor on him put
The Naples Vesture of Humilitie,
Nor shewing (as the manner is) his Wounds
Toth' People, begge their stinking Breaths.

Scicin.
'Tis right.

Brutus.
It was his word:
Oh he would misse it, rather then carry it,
But by the suite of the Gentry to him,
And the desire of the Nobles.

Scicin.
I wish no better, then haue him hold that pur pose, and to put it in execution.

Brutus.
'Tis most like he will.

Scicin.
It shall be to him then, as our good wills; a sure destruction.

Brutus.
So it must fall out
To him, or our Authorities, for an end.
We must suggest the People, in what hatred
He still hath held them: that to's power he would Haue made them Mules, silene'd their Pleaders,
And dispropertied their Freedomes; holding them,
In humane Action, and Capacitie,
Of no more Soule, nor fitnesse for the World,
Then Cammels in their Warre, who haue their Prouand
Onely for bearing Burthens, and sore blowes
For sinking vnder them.

Scicin.
This (as you say) suggested,
At some time, when his soaring Insolence
Shall teach the People, which time shall not want,
If he be put vpon't, and that's as easie,
As to set Dogges on Sheepe, will be his fire
To kindle their dry Stubble: and their Blaze
Shall darken him for euer.

Enter a Messenger.

Brutus.
What's the matter?

Mess.
You are sent for to the Capitoll:
'Tis thought, that Martius shall be Consull:
I haue seene the dumble men throng to see him,
And the blind to heare him speak: Matrons flong Gloues,
Ladies and Maids their Scarffes, and Handkerchers,
Vpon him as he pass'd: the Nobles bended
As to Ioues Statue, and the Commons made
A Shower, and Thunder, with their Caps, and Showts:
I neuer saw the like.
Brutus.
Let's to the Capitoll,
And carry with vs Eares and Eyes for th'time,
But Hearts for the euent.
Scicin.
Haue with you.
Exeunt.

[Act 2, Scene 2]

Enter two Officers, to lay Cushions, as it were, in the Capitoll.

1. Off.
Come, come, they are almost here: how many stand for Consulships?
2. Off.
Three, they say: but 'tis thought of euery one,
Coriolanus will carry it.
1. Off.
That's a braue fellow: but hee's vengeance proud, and loues not the common people.
2. Off.
'Faith, there hath beene many great men that haue flatter'd the people, who ne're loued them; and there be many that they haue loued, they know not wherefore:
so that if they loue they know not why, they hate vpon no better a ground. Therefore, for Coriolanus neyther to care whether they loue, or hate him, manifests the true knowledge he ha's in their disposition, and out of his No ble carelesnesse lets them plainely see't.
1. Off.
If he did not care whether he had their loue, or no, hee waued indifferently, 'twixt doing them neyther good, nor harme: but hee seekes their hate with greater deuotion, then they can render it him; and leaues nothing vndone, that may fully discouer him their opposite. Now to seeme to affect the mallice and displeasure of the Peo ple, is as bad, as that which he dislikes, to flatter them for their loue.
2. Off.
Hee hath deserued worthily of his Countrey, and his assent is not by such easie degrees as those, who hauing beene supple and courteous to the People, Bon netted, without any further deed, to haue them at all into their estimation, and report: but hee hath so planted his Honors in their Eyes, and his actions in their Hearts, that for their Tongues to be silent, and not confesse so much, were a kinde of ingratefull Iniurie: to report otherwise, were a Mallice, that giuing it selfe the Lye, would plucke reproofe and rebuke from every Eare that heard it.
1. Off.
No more of him, hee's a worthy man: make way, they are comming.

A Sennet. Enter the Patricians, and the Tribunes of the People, Lictors before them: Coriolanus, Menenius, Cominius the Consul; Scicinius and Brutus take their places by themselues: Coriolanus stands.

Menen.
Hauing determin'd of the Volces,
And to send for Titus Lartius: it remaines,
As the maine Point of this our after-meeting,
To gratifie his Noble seruice, that hath Thus stood for his Countrey. Therefore please you,
Most reuerend and graue Elders, to desire The present Consull, and last Generall,
In our well-found Successes, to report A little of that worthy Worke, perform'd By Martius Caius Coriolanus: whom We met here, both to thanke, and to remember, With Honors like himselfe.

1. Sen.
Speake, good Cominius:
Leaue nothing out for length, and make vs thinke Rather our states defectiue for requitall, Then we to stretch it out. Masters a'th'People, We doe request your kindest eares: and after Your louing motion toward the common Body, To yeeld what passes here.

Scicin.
We are conuented vpon a pleasing Treatie, and haue hearts inclinable to honor and aduance the Theame of our Assembly.

Brutus.
Which the rather wee shall be blest to doe, if he remember a kinder value of the People, then he hath hereto priz'd them at.

Menen.
That's off, that's off: I would you rather had been silent: Please you to heare Cominius speake?

Brutus.
Most willingly: but yet my Caution was more pertinent then the rebuke you giue it.

Menen.
He loues your People, but tye him not to be their Bed-fellow: Worthie Cominius speake. Coriolanus rises, and offers to goo away.

Nay, keepe your place.

Senat.
Sit Coriolanus: neuer shame to heare
What you haue Nobly done.

Coriol.
Your Honors pardon:
I had rather haue my Wounds to heale againe,
Then heare say how I got them.

Brutus.
Sir, I hope my words dis-bench'd you not?

Coriol.
No Sir: yet oft,
When blowes haue made me stay, I fled from words.
You sooth'd not, therefore hurt not: but your People,
I loue them as they weigh—

Menen.
Pray now sit downe.

Corio.
I had rather haue one scratch my Head i'th'Sun,
When the Alarum were strucke, then idly sit
To heare my Nothings monster'd.

Exit Coriolanus

Menen.
Masters of the People,
Your multiplying Spawne, how can he flatter?
That's thousand to one good one, when you now see
He had rather venture all his Limbes for Honor,
Then on ones Eares to heare it. Proceed Cominius.

Com.
I shall lacke voyce: the deeds of Coriolanus
Should not be vtter'd feebly: it is held,
That Valour is the chiefest Vertue,
And most dignifies the hauer: if it be,
The man I speake of, cannot in the World
Be singly counter-poys'd. At sixteene yeeres,
When Tarquin made a Head for Rome, he fought
Beyond the marke of others: our then Dictator,
Whom with all prayse I point at, saw him fight,
When with his Amazonian Shinne he droue
The brizled Lippes before him: he bestrid
An o're-prest Roman, and i'th'Consuls view
Slew three Opposers: Tarquins selfe he met,
And strucke him on his Knee: in that dayes feates,
When he might act the Woman in the Scene,
He prou'd best man i'th'field, and for his meed
Was Brow-bound with the Oake. His Pupill age
Man-entred thus, he waxed like a Sea,
And in the brunt of seuentene Battailes since,
He lurcht all Swords of the Garland: for this last,
Before, and in Corioles, let me say
I cannot speake him home: he stopt the flyers,
And by his rare example made the Coward
Turne terror into sport: as Weeds before
A Vessell vnder sayle, so men obey'd,
And fell below his Stem: his Sword, Deaths stampe,
Where it did marke, it tooke from face to foot:
He was a thing of Blood, whose every motion
Was tim'd with dying Cryes: alone he entred
The mortall Gate of th'Cittie, which he painted
With shunlesse destinie: aydelesse came off,
And with a sudden re-inforcement strucke
Carioles like a Planet: now all's his,
When by and by the dinne of Warre gan pierce
His readie sence: then straight his doubled spirit
Requickned what in flesh was fatigate,
And to the Battaile came he, where he did
Runne reeking o're the liues of men, as if 'twere
A perpetuall spoyle: and till we call'd
Both Field and Cittie ours, he neuer stood
To ease his Brest with panting.

Menen.
Worthy man.

Senat.
He cannot but with measure fit the Honors which we deuise him.

Com.
Our spoyles he kickt at,
And look'd vpon things precious, as they were
The common Muck of the World: he couets lesse
Then Miserie it selfe would giue, rewards his deeds
With doing them, and is content
To spend the time, to end it.

Menen.
Hee's right Noble, let him be call'd for.

Senat.
Call Coriolanus.

Off.
He doth appeare.

Enter Coriolanus.

Menen.
The Senate, Coriolanus, are well pleas'd to make thee Consull.

Corio.
I doe owe them still my Life, and Seruices.

Menen.
It then remaines, that you doe speake to the People.

Corio.
I doe beseech you,
Let me o're-leape that custome: for I cannot Put on the Gowne, stand naked, and entreat them
For my Wounds sake, to giue their sufferage:
Please you that I may passe this doing.

Scicin.
Sir, the People must haue their Voyces,
Neyther will they bate one iot of Ceremonie.

Menen.
Put them not too't:
Pray you goe fit you to the Custome,
And take to you, as your Predecessors haue,
Your Honor with your forme.

Corio.
It is a part that I shall blush in acting,
And might well be taken from the People.

Brutus.
Marke you that.

Corio.
To brag vnto them, thus I did, and thus
Shew them th'vnaking Skarres, which I should hide,
As if I had receiu'd them for the hyre
Of their breath onely.

Menen.
Doe not stand vpon't:
We recommend to you Tribunes of the People
Our purpose to them, and to our Noble Consull Wish we all Ioy, and Honor.

Senat. To

[Page 12]

The Tragedie of Coriolanus.

Senat.
To Coriolanus come all ioy and Honor.

Flourish Cornets.

Then Exeunt. Manet Sicinius and Brutus.

Bru.
You see how he intends to vse the people.

Scicin.
May they perceiue's intent: he wil require them
As if he did contemne what he requested,
Should be in them to giue.

Bru.
Come, wee'l informe them
Of our proceedings heere on th' Market place,
I know they do attend vs.

[Act 2, Scene 3]

Enter seaven or eight Citizens.

1. Cit.
Once if he do require our voyces, wee ought not to deny him.

2. Cit.
We may Sir if we will.

3. Cit.
We haue power in our selues to do it, but it is a power that we haue no power to do: For, if hee shew vs his wounds, and tell vs his deeds, we are to put our ton gues into those wounds, and speake for them: So if he tel vs his Noble deeds, we must also tell him our Noble ac ceptance of them. Ingratitude is monstrous, and for the multitude to be ingratefull, were to make a Monster of the multitude; of the which, we being members, should bring our selues to be monstrous members.

1. Cit.
And to make vs no better thought of a little helpe will serue: for once we stood vp about the Corne, he himselfe stucke not to call vs the many-headed Multi tude.

3. Cit.
We haue beene call'd so of many, not that our heads are some browne, some blacke, some Abram, some bald; but that our wits are so diuersly Coulor'd; and true
ly I thinke, if all our wittes were to issue out of one Scull, they would flye East, West, North, South, and their con sent of one direct way, should be at once to all the points a'th Compasse.

2. Cit.
Thinke you so? Which way do you judge my wit would flye.

3. Cit.
Nay your wit will not so soone out as another mans will, 'tis strongly wadg'd vp in a blocke-head: but if it were at liberty, 'twould sure Southward.

2 Cit.
Why that way?

3 Cit.
To loose it selfe in a Fogge, where being three parts melted away with rotten Dewes, the fourth would returne for Conscience sake, to helpe to get thee a Wife.

2 Cit.
You are neuer without your trickes, you may,
you may.

3 Cit.
Are you all resolu'd to giue your voyces? But that's no matter, the greater part carries it, I say. If hee would incline to the people, there was neuer a worthier man.

Enter Coriolanus in a gowne of Humility, with Menenius.

Heere he comes, and in the Gowne of humility, marke his behauiour: we are not to stay altogether, but to come by him where he stands, by ones, by twoes, & by threes.
He's to make his requests by particulars, wherein euerie one of vs ha's a single Honor, in giuing him our own voi ces with our owne tongues, therefore follow me, and Ile direct you how you shall go by him.

All.
Content, content.

Men.
Oh Sir, you are not right: haue you not knowne
The worthiest men haue done't?

Corio.
What must I say, I pray Sir?
Plague vpon't, I cannot bring
My tongue to such a pace. Looke Sir, my wounds,
I got them in my Countries Seruice, when
Some certaine of your Brethren roar'd, and ranne
From th'noise of our owne Drummes.

Menen.
Oh me the Gods, you must not speak of that,
You must desire them to thinke vpon you.

Coriol.
Thinke vpon me? Hang 'em,
I would they would forget me, like the Vertues
Which our Diuines lose by em.

Men.
You'l marre all,
Ile leaue you: Pray you speake to em, I pray You
In wholsome manner.

Exit

Enter three of the Citizens.

Corio.
Bid them wash their Faces,
And keepe their teeth cleane: So, heere comes a brace,
You know the cause (Sir) of my standing heere.

3 Cit.
We do Sir, tell vs what hath brought you too't.

Corio.
Mine owne desert.

2 Cit.
Your owne desert.

Corio.
I, but mine owne desire.

3 Cit.
How not your owne desire?

Corio.
No Sir, 'twas neuer my desire yet to trouble the poore with begging.

3 Cit.
You must thinke if we giue you any thing, we hope to gaine by you.

Corio.
Well then I pray, your price a'th'Consulship.

1 Cit.
The price is, to aske it kindly.

Corio.
Kindly sir, I pray let me ha't: I haue wounds to shew you, which shall bee yours in private: your good voice sir, what say you?

2 Cit.
You shall ha't worthy Sir.

Coriol.
A match Sir, there's in all two worthie voices begg'd: I haue your Almes, Adieu.

3 Cit.
But this is something odde.

2 Cit.
And 'twere to giue againe: but 'tis no matter.

Exeunt.

Enter two other Citizens.

Coriol.
Pray you now, if it may stand with the tune of your voices, that I may bee Consull, I haue heere the Customarie Gowne.

1.
You haue deserued Nobly of your Countrey, and you haue not deserued Nobly.

Coriol.
Your Ænigma.

1.
You haue bin a scourge to her enemies, you haue bin a Rod to her Friends, you haue not indeede loued the Common people.

Coriol.
You should account mee the more Vertuous, that I haue not bin common in my Loue, I will sir flatter my sworne Brother the people to earne a dearer estima tion of them, 'tis a condition they account gentle: & since the wisedome of their choice, is rather to haue my Hat, then my Heart, I will practice the insinuating nod, and be off to them most counterfetly, that is sir, I will counter fet the bewitchment of some popular man, and giue it bountifull to the desirers: Therefore beseech you, I may be Consull.

2.
Wee hope to finde you our friend: and therefore giue you our voices heartily.

1.
You haue receyued many wounds for your Coun try.

Coriol.
I wil not Seale your knowledge with shewing them. I will make much of your voyces, and so trouble you no farther.

Both.
The Gods giue you ioy Sir heartily.

Coriol.
Most sweet Voyces:
Better it is to dye, better to sterue,
Then craue the higher, which first we do deserue.
Why in this Wooluish tongue should I stand here,
To begge of Hob and Dicke, that does appeere
Their needlesse Vouches: Custome calls me too't.
What Custome wills in all things, should we doo't?
The Dust on antique Time would lye vnswept,
And mountainous Error be too highly heapt,
For Truth to o're-peere. Rather then foole it so,
Let the high Office and the Honor go
To one that would doe thus. I am halfe through,
The one part suffered, the other will I doe.

 Enter three Citizens more.

Here come moe Voyces.
Your Voyces? for your Voyces I haue fought,
Watcht for your Voyces: for your Voyces, beare
Of Wounds, two dozen odde: Battailes thrice six
I haue seene, and heard of: for your Voyces,
Haue done many things, some lesse, some more:
Your Voyces? Indeed I would be Consull.

 1. Cit.
Hee ha's done Nobly, and cannot goe without any honest mans Voyce.

 2. Cit.
Therefore let him be Consull: the Gods giue him ioy, and make him good friend to the People.

 All.

 Corio.
Worthy Voyces.

 Enter Menenius, with Brutus and Scicinius.

 Mene.
You haue stood your Limitation:
And the Tribunes endue you with the Peoples Voyce,
Remaines, that in th'Officill Markes inuested,
You anon doe meet the Senate.

 Corio.
Is this done?

 Scicin.
The Custome of Request you haue discharg'd:
The People doe admit you, and are summon'd
To meet anon, vpon your approbation.

 Corio.
Where? at the Senate-house?

 Scicin.
There, Coriolanus.

 Corio.
May I change these Garments?

 Scicin.
You may, Sir.

Cori.
That Ie straight do: and knowing my selfe again,
Repayre toth' Senate-house.

Mene.
Ile keepe you company. Will you along?

Brut.
We stay here for the People.

Scicin.
Fare you well.

Exeunt Coriol. and Mene.
He ha's it now: and by his Lookes, me thinkes,
'Tis warme at's heart.

Brut.
With a proud heart he wore his humble Weeds:
Will you dismisse the People?

Enter the Plebeians.

Scici.
How now, my Masters, haue you chose this man?

1. Cit.
He ha's our Voyces, Sir.

Brut.
We pray the Gods, he may deserue your loues.

2. Cit.
Amen, Sir: to my poore vnworthy notice,
He mock'd vs, when he begg'd our Voyces.

3. Cit.
Certainely, he flowted vs downe-right.

1. Cit.
No, 'tis his kind of speech, he did not mock vs.

2. Cit.
Not one amongst vs, saue your selfe, but says
He vs'd vs scornefullly: he should haue shew'd vs
His Marks of Merit, Wounds receiu'd for's Countrey.

Scicin.
Why so he did, I am sure.

All.
No, no: no man saw 'em.

3. Cit.
Hee said hee had Wounds,
Which he could shew in priuate:
And with his Hat, thus wauing it in scorn,
I would be Consull, says he: aged Custome,
But by your Voyces, will not so permit me.
Your Voyces therefore: when we gaunted that,
Here was, I thanke you for your Voyces, thanke you
Your most sweet Voyces: now you haue left your Voyces,
I haue no further with you. Was not this mockerie?

Scicin.
Why eyther were you ignorant to see't?
Or seeing it, of such Childish friendlinesse,
To yeeld your Voyces?

Brut.
Could you not haue told him,
As you were lesson'd: When he had no Power,
But was a pettie servuant to the State,
He was your Enemie, euer spake against
Your Liberties, and the Charters that you beare
I'th'Body of the Weale: and now arriuing
A place of Potencie, and sway o'th' State,
If he should still malignantly remaine
Fast Foe toth' Plebeij, your Voyces might Be Curses to your selues. You should haue said,
That as his worthy deeds did clayme no lesse
Then what he stood for: so his gracious nature
Would thinke vpon you, for your Voyces,
And translate his Mallice towards you, into Loue,
Standing your friendly Lord.

Scicin.
Thus to haue sai'd,
As you were fore-aduis'd, had toucht his Spirit,
And try'd his Inclination: from him pluckt
Eyther his gracious Promise, which you might
As cause had call'd you vp, haue held him to;
Or else it would haue gall'd his surly nature,
Which easily endures not Article,
Tying him to ought, so putting him to Rage,
You should haue ta'ne th'aduantage of his Choller,
And pass'd him vnlected.

Brut.
Did you perceiue,
He did sollicite you in free Contempt,
When he did need your Loues: and doe you thinke,
That his Contempt shall not be brusing to you,
When he hath power to crush? Why, had your Bodyes
No Heart among you? Or had you Tongues, to cry
Against the Rectorship of Judgement?

Scicin.
Haue you, ere now, deny'd the asker:
And now againe, of him that did not aske, but mock,
Bestow your su'd-for Tongues?

3. Cit.
Hee's not confirm'd, we may deny him yet.

2. Cit.
And will deny him:
Ile haue fiue hundred Voyces of that sound.

1. Cit.
I twice fiue hundred, & their friends, to piece 'em.

Brut.
Get you hence instantly, and tell those friends,
They haue chose a Consull, that will from them take
Their Liberties, make them of no more Voyce
Then Dogges, that are as often beat for barking,
As therefore kept to doe so.

Scici.
Let them assemble: and on a safer Judgement,
All reuoke your ignorant election: Enforce his Pride,
And his old Hate vnto you: besides, forget not
With what Contempt he wore the humble Weed,
How in his Suit he scorn'd you: but your Loues,
Thinking vpon his Seruices, tooke from you
Th'apprehension of his present portance,
Which most gibingly, vngrauely, he did fashion
After the inueterate Hate he beares you.

Brut.
 Lay a fault on vs, your Tribunes,
That we labour'd (no impediment betweene)
But that you must cast your Election on him.

Scici.
Say you chose him, more after our commandment,
Then as guided by your owne true affections, and that
Your Minds pre-occupy'd with what you rather must do,
Then what you should, made you against the graine
To Voyce him Consull. Lay the fault on vs.

Brut. I,
I, spare vs not: Say, we read Lectures to you,
How youngly he began to serue his Countrey,
How long continued, and what stock he springs of,
The Noble House o'th' Martians: from whence came
That Ancus Martius, Numaes Daughters Sonne:
Who after great Hostilius here was King,
Of the same House Publius and Quintus were,
That our best Water, brought by Conduits hither,
And Nobly nam'd, so twice being Censor,
Was his great Ancestor.

Scicin.
One thus descended,
That hath beside well in his person wrought,
To be set high in place, we did commend
To your remembrances: but you haue found,
Skaling his present bearing with his past,
That hee's your fixed enemie; and reuoke
Your suddaine approbation.

Brut.
Say you ne're had don't,
(Harpe on that still) but by our putting on:
And presently, when you haue drawne your number,
Repaire toth'Capitoll.

All.
We will so: almost all repent in their election.
Exeunt Plebeians.

Brut.
Let them goe on:
This Mutinie were better put in hazard,
Then stay past doubt, for greater:
If, as his nature is, he fall in rage
With their refusall, both obserue and answer
The vantage of his anger.

Scicin.
Toth'Capitoll, come:
We will be there befor e the streame o'th' People:
And this shall seeme, as partly 'tis, their owne,
Which we haue goaded on-ward.
Exeunt.

Actus Tertius.
[Act 3, Scene 1]

Cornets. Enter Coriolanus, Menenius, all the Gentry, Cominius, Titus Latius, and other Senators.

Corio.
Tullius Auffidius then had made new head.

Latius.
He had, my Lord, and that it was which caus'd
Our swifter Composition.

Corio.
So then the Volces stand but as at first,
Readie when time shall prompt them, to make roade
Vpon's againe.

Com.
They are worne (Lord Consull) so,
That we shall hardly in our ages see
Their Banners waue againe.

Corio.
Saw you Auffidius?

Latius.
On safegard he came to me, and did curse
Against the Volces, for they had so vildly
Yeelded the Towne: he is retyred to Antium.

Corio.
Spoke he of me?

Latius.
He did, my Lord.

Corio.
How? what?

Latius.
How often he had met you Sword to Sword:
That of all things vpon the Earth, he hated
Your person most: That he would pawne his fortunes
To hopelesse restitution, so he might Be call'd your Vanquisher.
Corio.
At Antium liues he?

Latius.
At Antium.

Corio.
I wish I had a cause to seeke him there,
To oppose his hatred fully. Welcome home.

Enter Scicinius and Brutus.

Behold, these are the Tribunes of the People,
The Tongues o'th'Common Mouth. I do despise them:
For they doe pranke them in Authoritie,
Against all Noble sufferance.

Scicin.
Passe no further.

Cor.
Hah? what is that?

Brut.
It will be dangerous to goe on—No further.

Corio.
What makes this change?

Menen.
The matter?

Com.
Hath he not pass'd the Noble, and the Common?

Brut.
Cominius, no.

Corio.
Have I had Childrens Voyces?

Senat.
Tribunes giue way, he shall toth'Market place.

Brut.
The People are incens'd against him.

Scicin.
Stop, or all will fall in broyle.

Corio.
Are these your Heard?
Must these haue Voyces, that can yeeld them now,
And straight disclaim their toungs? what are your Offices?
You being their Mouthes, why rule you not their Teeth?
Have you not set them on?

Mene.
Be calme, be calme.

Corio.
It is a purpos'd thing, and growes by Plot,
To curbe the will of the Nobilitie:
Suffer't, and lieue with such as cannot rule,
Nor euer will be ruled.

Brut.
Call't not a Plot:
The People cry you mockt them: and of late,
When Corne was giuen them gratis, you repin'd,
Scandal'd the Suppliants: for the People, call'd them
Time-pleasers, flatterers, foes to Noblenesse.

Corio.
Why this was knowne before.

Brut.
Not to them all.

Corio.
Haue you inform'd them sithence?

Brut.
How? I informe them?

Com.
You are like to doe such businesse.

Brut.
Not vnlike each way to better yours.

Corio.
Why then should I be Consull? by yond Clouds
Let me deserue so ill as you, and make me
Your fellow Tribune.

Scicin.
You shew too much of that,
For which the People stirre: if you will passe
To where you are bound, you must enquire your way,
Which you are out of, with a gentler spirit,
Or neuer be so Noble as a Consull,
Nor yoake with him for Tribune.

Mene.
Let's be calme.

Com.
The People are abus'd: set on, this paltring
Becomes not Rome: nor ha's Coriolanus
Deseru'd this so dishonor'd Rub, layd falsely
I'th'plaine Way of his Merit.

Corio.
Tell me of Corne: this was my speech,
And I will speak't againe.

Mene.
Not now, not now.

Senat.
Not in this heat, Sir, now.

Corio.
Now as I liue, I will.
My Nobler friends, I craue their pardons:
For the mutable ranke-sented Meynie,
Let them regard me, as I doe not flatter,
And therein behold themselues: I say againe,
In soothing them, we nourish 'gainst our Senate
The Cockle of Rebellion, Insolence, Sedition,
Which we our selues haue plowed for, sow'd, & scatter'd,
By mingling them with vs, the honor'd Number,
Who lack not Vertue, no, nor Power, but that
Which they haue giuen to Beggers.
Mene.
Well, no more.

Senat.
No more words, we beseech you.

Corio.
How? no more?
As for my Country, I haue shed my blood,
Not fearing outward force: So shall my Lungs
Coine words till their decay, against those Meazels
Which we disdaine should Tetter vs, yet sought
The very way to catch them.

Bru.
You speake a'th'people, as if you were a God,
To punish; Not a man, of their Infirmity.

Sicin.
'Twere well we let the people know't.

Mene.
What, what? His Choller?

Cor.
Choller? Were I as patient as the midnight sleep,
By Ioue, 'twould be my minde.

Sicin.
It is a minde that shall remain a poison
Where it is: not poyson any further.

Corio.
Shall remaine?
Heare you this Triton of the Minnaues? Marke you
His absolute Shall?

Com.
'Twas from the Cannon.

Cor.
Shall? O God! but most vnwise Patricians: why
You graue, but wreaklesse Senators, haue you thus Gien Hidra heere to choose an Officer,
That with his peremptory Shall, being but
The horne, and noise o'th'Monsters, wants not spirit
To say, hee'l turne your Current in a ditch,
And make your Channell his? If he haue power,
Then vale your Ignorance: If none, awake
Your dangerous Lenity: If you are Learnt'd,
Be not as common Fooles; if you are not,
Let them haue Cushions by you. You are Plebeians,
If they be Senators: and they are no lesse,
When both your voices blended, the great'st taste
Most pallates theirs. They choose their Magistrate,
And such a one as he, who puts his Shall,
His popular Shall, against a grauer Bench
Then euer frown'd in Greece. By Ioue himselfe,
It makes the Consuls base; and my Soule akes
To know, when two Authorities are vp,
Neither Supreme; How soone Confusion
May enter 'twixt the gap of Both, and take
The one by th'other.

Com.
Well, on to'th'Market place.

Corio.
Who euer gaue that Counsell, to giue forth
The Corne a'th'Store-house gratis, as 'twas vs'd Sometime in Greece.

Mene.
Well, well, no more of that.

Cor.
Thogh there the people had more absolute powre
I say they norisht disobedience: fed, the ruin of the State.

Bru.
Why shall the people giue
One that speaks thus, their voyce?

Corio.
Ile giue my Reasons,
More worthier then their Voyces. They know the Corne
Was not our recompence, resting well assur'd
They ne're did service for't; being prest to'th'Warre,
Euen when the Nauell of the State was touch'd,
They would not thred the Gates: This kinde of Service
Did not deserve Corne gratis. Being i'th'Warre,
There Mutinies and Reuolts, wherein they shew'd
Most Valour spoke not for them. Th'Accusation
Which they haue often made against the Senate,
All cause vnborne, could never be the Native
Of our so franke Donation. Well, what then?
How shall this Bosome-multiplied, digest
The Senates Courtesie? Let deeds express
What's like to be their words, We did request it,
We are the greater pole, and in true feare
They gave vs our demands. Thus we debase
The Nature of our Seats, and make the Rabble
Call our Cares, Feares; which will in time
Breake ope the Lockes a'th'Senate, and bring in
The Crowes to pecke the Eagles.

Mene.
Come enough.

Bru.
Enough, with ouer measure.

Corio.
No, take more.
What may be sworne by, both Diuine and Humane,
Seale what I end withall. This double worship,
Whereon part do's disdain with cause, the other
Insult without all reason: where Gentry, Title, wisedom
Cannot conclude, but by the yea and no
Of generall Ignorance, it must omit
Reall Necessities, and giue way the while
To vnstable Slightnesse. Purpose so barr'd, it followes,
Nothing is done to purpose. Therefore beseech you,
You that will be lesse fearefull, then discreet,
That loue the Fundamentall part of State
More then you doubt the change on't: That preferre
A Noble life, before a Long, and Wish,
To iumpe a Body with a dangerous Physicke,
That's sure of death without it: at once plucke out
The Multitudinous Tongue, let them not [...jicke
The sweet which is their poysone. Your dishonor
Mangles true iudgement, and bereaues the State
Of that Integrity which should becom't:
Not hauing the power to do the good it would
For th'ill which doth controul't.

Bru.
Has said enough.

Sicin.
Ha's spoken like a Traitor, and shall answer
As Traitors do.

Corio.
Thou wretch, despight ore-whelme thee:
What should the people do with these bald Tribunes?
On whom depending, their obedience failes
To'th'greater Bench, in a Rebellion:
When what's not meet, but what must be, was Law,
Then were they chosen: in a better houre,
Let what is meet, be saide it must be meet,
And throw their power i'th'dust.

Bru.
Manifest Treason.

Sicin.
This a Consull? No.

Enter an Ædile.

Bru.
The Ediles hoe: Let him be apprehended:

Sicin.
Go call the people, in whose name my Selfe
Attach thee as a Traitorous Innouator:
A Foe to'th'publike Weale. Obey I charge thee,
And follow to thine answer.

Corio.
Hence old Goat.

All.
We'll Surety him.

Com.
Ag'd sir, hands off.

Corio.
Hence rotten thing, or I shall shake thy bones
Out of thy Garments.

Sicin.
Helpe ye Citizens.

Enter a rabble of Plebeians with the Ædiles.

Mene.
On both sides more respect.

Sicin.
Heere's hee, that would take from you all your power

Bru.
Seize him Ædiles

All.
Downe with him, downe with him.

2 Sen.
Weapons, weapons, weapons:

They all bustle about Coriolanus.

Tribunes, Patricians, Citizens: what ho:

Sicinius, Brutus, Coriolanus, Citizens.

All.
Peace, peace, peace, stay, hold, peace.

Mene.
What is about to be? I am out of Breath,
Confusions neere, I cannot speake. You, Tribunes
To'th'people: Coriolanus, patience: Speak good Sicinius

Bb2Sicin.

The Tragedie of Coriolanus.

Scici.
Heare me, People peace.

All.
Let's here our Tribune: peace, speake, speake,

Scici.
You are at point to lose your Liberties:
Martius would haue all from you; Martius,
Whom late you haue nam'd for Consull.

Mene.
Fie, fie, fie, this is the way to kindle, not to quench.

Sena.
To vnbuild the Citie, and to lay all flat.

Scici.
What is the Citie, but the People?

All.
True, the People are the Citie.

Brut.
By the consent of all, we were establish'd the Peoples Magistrates.

All.
You so remaine.

Mene.
And so are like to doe.

Com.
That is the way to lay the City flat,
To bring the Roof to the Foundation,
And bury all, which yet distinctly range
In heaps, and piles of Ruine.

Scici.
This deserves Death.

Brut.
Or let us stand to our Authoritie,
Or let us lose it: we do here pronounce,
Upon the part of the People, in whose power
We were elected theirs, Martius is worthy Of present Death.

Scici.
Therefore lay hold of him:
Bear him to the Rock Tarpeian, and from thence Into destruction cast him.

Brut.
Ædiles seize him.

All Ple.
Yeeld Martius, yeeld.

Mene.
Heare me one word, 'beseech you Tribunes, heare me but a word.

Ædiles.
Peace, peace.

Mene.
Be that you seeme, truly your Countries friend,
And temp'rately proceed to what you would Thus violently redresse

Brut.
Sir, those cold ways,
That seeme like prudent helps, are very poissonous,
Where the Disease is violent. Lay hands upon him,
And bear him to the Rock.

Corio. draws his Sword.

Corio.
No, I die here:
There's some among you have beheld me fighting,
Come trie upon your selves, what you have seene me.

Mene.
Downe with that Sword, Tribunes withdraw a while.

Brut.
Lay hands upon him.

Mene.
Help Martius, help: you that be noble, help him young and old.

All.
Downe with him, downe with him.

Exeunt.
In this Mutinie, the Tribunes, the Ædiles, and the People are beat in.

Mene.
Goe, get you to our House: be gone, away.
All will be naught else.

2. Sena.
Get you gone.

Com.
Stand fast, we haue as many friends as enemies.

Mene.
Shall it be put to that?

Sena.
The Gods forbid:
I prythee noble friend, home to thy House,
Leaue vs to cure this Cause.

Mene.
For 'tis a Sore vpon vs,
You cannot Tent your selfe: be gone, 'beseech you.

Corio.
Note: Conventionally this speech is given to Cominius.
Come Sir, along with vs.

Mene.
I would they were Barbarians, as they are,
Though in Rome litter'd: not Romans, as they are not,
Though calued i'th'Porch o'th'Capitoll:
Be gone, put not your worthy Rage into your Tongue,
One time will owe another.

Corio.
On faire ground, I could beat fortie of them.

Mene.
I could my selfe take vp a Brace o'th'best of them, yea, the two Tribunes.

Com.
But now 'tis oddes beyond Arithmetick,
And Manhood is call'd Foolerie, when it stands
Against a falling Fabrick. Will you hence,
Before the Tagge returne? whose Rage doth rend
Like interrupted Waters, and o're-beare
What they are vs'd to beare.

Mene.
Pray you be gone:
Ile trie whether my old Wit be in request
With those that haue but little: this must be patcht
With Cloth of any Colour.

Com.
Nay, come away.

Exeunt Coriolanus and Cominius.

Patri.
This man ha's marr'd his fortune.

Mene.
His nature is too noble for the World:
He would not flatter Neptune for his Trident,
Or Ioue, for's power to Thunder: his Heart's his Mouth:
What his Brest forges, that his Tongue must vent,
And being angry, does forget that euer
He heard the Name of Death.

A Noise within.
Here's goodly worke.

Patri.
I would they were a bed.

Mene.
I would they were in Tyber.
What the vengeance, could he not speake 'em faire?

Enter Brutus and Sicinius with the rabble againe.

Sicin.
Where is this Viper,
That would depopulate the city, & be euery man himself

Mene.
You worthy Tribunes.

Sicin.
He shall be throwne downe the Tarpeian rock
With rigorous hands: he hath resisted Law,
And therefore Law shall scorne him further Triall
Then the severity of the publike Power,
Which he so sets at naught.

1 Cit.
He shall well know the Noble Tribunes are
The peoples mouths, and we their hands.

All.
He shall sure ont.

Mene.
Sir, sir.

Sicin.
Peace.

Me.
Do not cry hauocke, where you shold but hunt
With modest warrant.

Sicin.
Sir, how com'st that you haue holpe
To make this rescue?

Mene.
Heere me speake? As I do know
The Consuls worthinesse, so can I name his Faults.

Sicin.
Consull? what Consull?

Mene.
The Consull Coriolanus.

Bru.
He Consull.

All.
No, no, no, no, no.
Mene.
If by the Tribunes leave,
And yours good people,
I may be heard, I would crave a word or two,
The which shall turne you to no further harme,
Then so much losse of time.

Sic.
Speake breffely then,
For we are peremptory to dispatch
This Viporous Traitor: to eject him hence
Were but one danger, and to keepe him heere
Our certaine death: therefore it is decreed,
He dies to night.

Menen.
Now the good Gods forbid,
That our renowned Rome, whose gratitude
Towards her deserved Children, is enroll'd
In Ioues owne Booke, like an unnaturall Dam
Should now ete vp her owne.

Sicin.
[Page 17]
The Tragedie of Coriolanus.

Sicin.
He's a Disease that must be cut away.

Mene.
Oh he's a Limbe, that ha's but a Disease
Mortall, to cut it off: to cure it, easie.
What ha's he done to Rome, that's worthy death?
Killing our Enemies, the blood he hath lost
(Which I dare vouch, is more then that he hath
By many an Ounce) he dropp'd it for his Country:
And what is left, to loose it by his Countrey,
Were to vs all that doo't, and suffer it
A brand to th'end a'th World.

Sicin.
This is cleane kamme.

Brut.
Meerely awry:
When he did loue his Country, it honour'd him.

Menen.
The seruice of the foote
Being once gangren'd, is not then respected
For what before it was.

Bru.
Weel heare no more:
Pursue him to his house, and plucke him thence,
Least his infection being of catching nature,
Spred further.

Menen.
One word more, one word:
This Tiger-footed-rage, when it shall find
The harme of vnskan'd swiftnesse, will (too late)
Tye Leaden pounds too's heele. Proceed by Processe,
Least parties (as he is belou'd) breake out,
And sacke great Rome with Romanes.

Brut.
If it were so?

Sicin.
What do ye talke?
Haue we not had a taste of his Obedience?
Our Ediles smot: our selues resisted: come.

Mene.
Consider this: He ha's bin bred i'th'Warres
Since a could draw a Sword, and is ill-school'd
In boulted Language: Meale and Bran together
He throwes without distinction. Giue me leaue,
Ile go to him, and vndertake to bring him in peace,
Where he shall answer by a lawfull Forme
(In peace) to his vtmost peril.

1. Sen.
Noble Tribunes,
It is the humane way: the other course
Will proue to bloody: and the end of it,
Vnknowne to the Beginning.

Sic.
Noble Menenius, be you then as the peoples officer:
Masters, lay downe your Weapons.

Bru.
Go not home.

Sic.
Meet on the Market place: wee'l attend you there:
Where if you bring not Martius, wee'l proceede
In our first way.

Menen.
Ile bring him to you.
Let me desire your company: he must come,
Or what is worst will follow.

Sena.
Pray you let's to him.

Exeunt Omnes.

[Act 3, Scene 2]

Enter Coriolanus with Nobles.

Corio.
Let them pull all about mine eares, present me
Death on the Wheele, or at wilde Horses heele,
Or pile ten hilles on the Tarpeian Rocke,
That the precipitation might downe stretch
Below the beame of sight; yet will I still Be thus to them.

Enter Volumnia.
Noble.
You do the Nobler.

Corio.
I muse my Mother
Do's not approve me further, who was wont
To call them Wollen Vassailes, things created
To buy and sell with Groats, to shew bare heads
In Congregations, to yawne, be still, and wonder,
When one but of my ordinance stood vp
To speake of Peace, or Warre. I talke of you,
Why did you wish me milder? Would you haue me
False to my Nature? Rather say, I play
The man I am.

Volum.
Oh sir, sir, sir,
I would haue had you put your power well on
Before you had wore it out.

Corio.
Let go.

Vol.
You might haue bee enough the man you are,
With striuing lesse to be so: Lesser had bin
The things of your dispositions, if
You had not shew'd them how ye were dispos'd
Ere they lack'd power to crosse you.

Corio.
Let them hang.

Volum.
I, and burne too.

Enter Menenius with the Senators.

Men.
Come, come, you haue bin too rough, somthing too rough: you must returne, and mend it.

Sen.
There's no remedy,
Vnlesse by not so doing, our good Citie
Cleaue in the midd'st, and perish.

Volum.
Pray be counsail'd;
I haue a heart as little apt as yours,
But yet a braine, that leades my vse of Anger
To better vantage.

Mene.
Well said, Noble woman:
Before he should thus stoope to'th'heart, but that
The violent fit a'th'time craues it as Physicke
For the whole State; I would put mine Armour on,
Which I can scarsely beare.

Corio.
What must I do?

Mene.
Returne to th’Tribunes.

Corio.
Well, what then? what then?

Mene.
Repent, what you haue spoke.

Corio.
For them, I cannot do it to the Gods,
Must I then doo’t to them?

Volum.
You are too absolute,
Though therein you can neuer be too Noble,
But when extremities speake. I haue heard you say,
Honor and Policy, like vnseuer’d Friends,
I’th’Warre do grow together: Grant that, and tell me
In Peace, what each of them by th'other loose,
That they combine not there?

Corio.
Tush, tush.

Mene.
A good demand.

Volum.
If it be Honor in your Warres, to seeme
The same you are not, which for your best ends
You adopt your policy: How is it lesse or worse
That it s'hall hold Companionship in Peace
With Honour, as in Warre; since that to both
It stands in like request

Corio.
Why force you this?

Volum.
Because, that
Now it lyes you on to speake to th'people:
Not by your owne instruction, nor by'th'matter
Which your heart prompts you, but with such words
That are but roated in your Tongue;
Though but Bastards, and Syllables
Of no allowance, to your bosomes truth.
Now, this no more dishonors you at all,
Then to take in a Towne with gentle words,
Which else would put you to your fortune, and
The hazard of much blood.
I would dissemble with my Nature, where
My Fortunes and my Friends at stake, requir’d
I should do so in Honor. I am in this

Your Wife, your Sonne: These Senators, the Nobles,
And you, will rather shew our generall Lowts,
How you can frowne, then spend a fawne vpon ’em,
For the inheritance of their loues, and safeguard
Of what that want might ruine.

Menen.
Noble Lady,
Come goe with vs, speake faire: you may salue so,
Not what is dangerous present, but the losse
Of what is past.

Volum.
I prythee now, my Sonne,
Goe to them, with this Bonnet in thy hand,
And thus farre hauing stretcht it (here be with them)
Thy Knee busing the stones: for in such businesse
Action is eloquence, and the eyes of th'ignorant
More learned then the eares, wauing thy head,
Which often thus correcting thy stout heart,
Now humble as the ripest Mulberry,
That will not hold the handling: or say to them,
Thou art their Souldier, and being bred in broyles,
Hast not the soft way, which thou do'st confesse
Were fit for thee to vse, as they to clayme,
In asking their good loues, but thou wilt frame
Thy selfe (forsooth) hereafter theirs so farre,
As thou hast power and person.

Menen.
This but done,
Euen as she speakes, why their hearts were yours:
For they haue Pardons, being ask'd, as free,
As words to little purpose.

Volum.
Prythee now,
Goe, and be rul'd: although I know thou hadst rather Foll ow thine Enemie in a fierie Gulfe,
Then flatter him in a Bower.

Enter Cominius.

Here is Cominius.

Com.
I haue beene i'th'Market place: and Sir 'tis fit
You make strong partie, or defend your selfe
By calmenesse, or by absence: all's in anger.

Menen.
Onely faire speech.

Com.
I thinke 'twill serue, if he can thereto frame his spirit.

Volum.
He must, and will:
Prythee now say you will, and goe about it.

Corio.
Must I goe shew them my vnbarb'd Sconce?
Must I with my base Tongue glue to my Noble Heart
A Lye, that it must beare well? I will doo't:
Yet were there but this single Plot, to loose
This Mould of Martius, they to dust should grinde it,
And throw't against the Winde. Toth' Market place:
You haue put me now to such a part, which neuer
I shall discharge toth' Life.

Com.
Come, come, we'lle prompt you.

Volum.
I prythee now sweet Son, as thou hast said
My praises made thee first a Souldier; so
To haue my praise for this, performe a part
Thou hast not done before.

Corio.
Well, I must doo't:
Away my disposition, and possesse me
Some Harlots spirit: My throat of Warre be turn'd,
Which quier'd with my Drumme into a Pipe,
Small as an Eunuch, or the Virgin voyce
That Babies lull a-sleepe: The smiles of Knaues
Tent in my cheekes, and Schoole-boys Teares take vp
The Glasses of my sight: A Beggars Tongue
Make motion through my Lips, and my Arm'd knees
Who bow'd but in my Stirrop, bend like his
That hath receiu'd an Almes. I will not doo't,
Least I surcease to honor mine owne truth,
And by my Bodies action, teach my Minde
A most inherent Basenesse

Volum.
At thy choice then:
To begge of thee, it is my more dis-honor,
Then thou of them. Come all to ruine, let Thy Mother rather feel thy Pride, then feare
Thy dangerous Stoutnesse: for I mocke at death
With as bigge heart as thou. Do as thou list,
Thy Valiantnesse was mine, thou suck'st it from me:
But owe thy Pride thy selfe.

Corio.
Pray be content:
Mother, I am going to the Market place:
Chide me no more. Ile Mountebanke their Loues,
Cogge their Hearts from them, and come home belou'd
Of all the Trades in Rome. Looke, I am going:
Commend me to my Wife, Ile returne Consull,
Or neuer trust to what my Tongue can do
I'th way of Flattery further.

Volum.
Do your will.

Exit Volumnia

Com.
Away, the Tribunes do attend you: arm your self
To answer mildely: for they are prepar'd
With Accusations, as I heare more strong
Then are vpon you yet.
Corio.
The word is, Mildely. Pray you let vs go,
Let them accuse me by inuention: I
Will answer in mine Honor.

Menen.
I, but mildly.

Corio.
Well mildly be it then, Mildely.

Exeunt.

[Act 3, Scene 3]

Enter Sicinius and Brutus.

Bru.
In this point charge him home, that he affects Tyrannicall power: If he euade vs there,
Inforce him with his enuy to the people,
And that the Spoile got on the Antiats
Was ne're distributed. What, will he come?

Enter an Edile.

Edile.
Hee's comming.

Bru.
How accompanied?

Edile.
With old Menenius, and those Senators
That alwayes fauour'd him.

Sicin.
Haue you a Catalogue
Of all the Voices that we haue procur'd, set downe by'th (Pole?

Edile.
I haue: 'tis ready.

Sicin.
Haue you collected them by Tribes?

Edile.
I haue.

Sicin.
Assemble presently the people hither:
And when they heare me say, it shall be so,
I'th'right and strength a' th'Commons: be it either
For death, for fine, or Banishment, then let them
If I say Fine, cry Fine; if Death, cry Death,
Insisting on the olde prerogatiue
And power i' th' Truth a' th' Cause.

Edile.
I shall informe them.

Bru.
And when such time they haue begun to cry,
Let them not cease, but with a dinne confus'd
Inforce the present Execution
Of what we chance to Sentence.

Edi.
Very well.

Sicin.
Make them be strong, and ready for this hint
When we shall hap to giu't them.

Bru.
Go about it,
Put him to Choller straite, he hath bene vs'd
Euer to conquer, and to haue his worth
Of contradiction. Being once chaft, he cannot Be rein'd againe to Temperance, then he speakes

What's in his heart, and that is there which looks
With vs to breake his necke.

Enter Coriolanus, Menenius, and Cominius, with others.

Sicin.
Well, heere he comes.

Mene.
Calmely, I do beseech you.

Corio.
I, as an Hostler, that fourth poorest peece
Will beare the Knaue by'th Volume:
Th' honor'd Goddes
Keepe Rome in safety, and the Chaires of Iustice
Supplied with worthy men, plant loue amongs
Through our large Temples with (y)the shewes of peace
And not our streets with Warre.

1 Sen.
Amen, Amen.

Mene.
A Noble wish.

Enter the Edile with the Plebeians.

Sicin.
Draw neere ye people.

Edile.
List to your Tribunes. Audience:
Peace I say.

Corio.
First heare me speake.

Both Tri.
Well, say: Peace hoe.

Corio.
Shall I be charg'd no further then this present?
Must all determine heere?

Sicin.
I do demand,
If you submit you to the peoples voices,
Allow their Officers, and are content
To suffer lawfull Censure for such faults
As shall be prou'd vpon you.

Corio.
I am Content.

Mene.
Lo Citizens, he sayes he is Content.
The warlike Seruice he ha's done, consider: Thinke
Vpon the wounds his body beares, which shew
Like Graues i'th holy Church-yard.

Corio.
Scratches with Briars, scarres to moue
Laughter onely.

Mene.
Consider further:
That when he speakes not like a Citizen,
You finde him like a Soldier: do not take
His rougher Actions for malicious sounds:
But as I say, such as become a Soldier,
Rather then enuy you.

Com.
Well, well, no more.

Corio.
What is the matter,
That being past for Consull with full voyce:
I am so dishonour'd, that the very houre
You take it off againe.

Sicin.
Answer to vs.

Corio.
Say then: 'tis true, I ought so

Sicin.
We charge you, that you haue contriu'd to take
From Rome all season'd Office, and to winde
Your selfe into a power tyrannicall,
For which you are a Traitor to the people.

Corio.
How? Traytor?

Mene.
Nay temperately: your promise.

Corio.
The fires i'th'lowest hell. Fould in the people:
Call me their Traitor, thou injurious Tribune.
Within thine eyes sate twenty thousand deaths.
In thy hands clutcht: as many Millions in Thy lying tongue, both numbers. I would say
Thou lyest vnto thee, with a voice as free,
As I do pray the Gods.

Sicin.
Marke you this people?

All.
To'th'Rocke, to'th'Rocke with him.

Sicin.
Peace:
We neede not put new matter to his charge:
What you haue scene him do, and heard him speake:
Beating your Officers, cursing your selues,
Opposing Lawes with strokes, and heere defying
Those whose great power must try him.
Euen this so crimina
ll, and in such capitall kinde
Deserues th'extreamest death.

Brut.
But since he hath seru'd well for Rome.

Corio.
What do you prate of Serviue.

Brut.
I talke of that, that know it.

Corio.
You?

Mene.
Is this the promise that you made your mother.

Com.
Know, I pray you.

Corio.
Ile know no further:
Let them pronounce the steepe Tarpeian death,
Vagabond exile, Fleaing, pent to linger
But with a graine a day, I would not buy
Their mercie, at the price of one faire word,
Nor checke my Courage for what they can giue,
To haue't with saying, Good morrow.

Sicin.
For that he ha's
(As much as in him lies) from time to time
Enui'd against the people; seeking meanes
To plucke away their power: as now at last,
Giuem Hostile strokes, and that not in the presence
Of dreaded Iustice, but on the Ministers
That doth distribute it. In the name a' th'people,
And in the power of vs the Tribunes, wee (Eu'n from this instant) banish him our Citie
In perill of precipitation
From off the Rocke Tarpeian, neuer more
To enter our Rome gates. I' th'Peoples name,
I say it shall bee so.

All.
It shall be so, it shall be so: let him away:
Hee's banish'd, and it shall be so.

Com.
Heare me my Masters, and my common friends.

Sicin.
He's sentenc'd: No more hearing.

Com.
Let me speake:
I haue bene Consull, and can shew from Rome
Her Enemies markes vpon me. I do loue
My Countries good, with a respect more tender,
More holy, and profound, then mine owne life,
My deere Wiues estimate, her wombes encrease,
And treasure of my Loynes: then if I would Speake that.

Sicin.
We know your drift. Speake what?

Bru.
There's no more to be said, but he is banish'd
As Enemy to the people, and his Countrey.
It shall bee so.

All.
It shall be so, it shall be so.

Corio.
You common cry of Curs, whose breath I hate,
As reeke a'th'rotten Fennes: whose Loues I prize,
As the dead Carkasses of vnburied men,
That do corrupt my Ayre: I banish you,
And heere remaine with your vncertaintie.
Let euery feeble Rumor shake your hearts:
Your Enemies, with nodding of their Plumes
Fan you into dispaire: Haue the power still
To banish your Defenders, till at length
Your ignorance (which findes not till it feeles,
Making but reseruation of your selues,
Still your owne Foes) deliuer you
As most abated Captiues, to some Nation
That wonne you without blowes, despising
For you the City. Thus I turne my backe;
There is a world elsewhere.

Exeunt Coriolanus, Cominius, with Cumalijis.

Edile

They all shout, and throw vp their Caps.

Edile.

[Page 20]
The Tragedie of Coriolanus.

Edile.
The peoples Enemy is gone, is gone.

All.
Our enemy is banish'd, he is gone: Hoo, oo.

Sicin.
Go see him out at Gates, and follow him
As he hath follow'd you, with all despight
Gieue him deseru'd vexation. Let a guard
Attend vs through the City.

All.
Come, come, lets see him out at gates, come:
The Gods preserue our Noble Tribunes, come.

Exeunt.
Actus Quartus.
[Act 4, Scene 1]

Enter Coriolianus, Volumnia, Virgilia, Menenius, Cominius, with the yong Nobility of Rome.

Corio.
Come leaue your teares: a brief farwel: the beast
With many heads butts me away. Nay Mother,
Where is your ancient Courage? You were vs'd to say, Extreamities was the trier of spirits,
That common chances. Common men could beare,
That when the Sea was calme, all Boats alike
Shew'd Mastership in floating. Fortunes blowes,
When most strooke home, being gentle wounded, craues
A Noble cunning. You were vs'd to load me
With Precepts that would make inuincible
The heart that conn'd them.

Virg.
Oh heauens! O heauens!

Corio.
Nay, I prythee woman.

Vol.
Now the Red Pestilence strike al Trades in Rome,
And Occupations perish.

Corio.
What, what, what:
I shall be lou'd when I am lack'd. Nay Mother,
Resume that Spirit, when you were wont to say,
If you had beene the Wife of Hercules,
Six of his Labours youl'd haue done, and sau'd
Your Husband so much swet. Cominius,
Droope not, Adieu: Farewell my Wife, my Mother,
Ile do well yet. Thou old and true Menenius,
Thy teares are salter then a yonger mans,
And venomous to thine eyes. My (sometime) Generall,
I haue seene the Sterne, and thou hast oft beheld
Heart-hardning spectacles. Tell these sad women,
'Tis fond to waile ineuitable strokes,
As 'tis to laugh at 'em. My Mother, you wot well
My hazards still haue beene your solace, and Beleeu't not lightly, though I go alone
Like to a lonely Dragon, that his Fenne
Makes fear'd, and talk'd of more then scene: your Sonne
Will or exceed the Common, or be caught
With cautelous baits and practice.

Volum.
My first sonne,
Whether will thou go? Take good Cominius
With thee awhile: Determine on some course
More then a wilde exposture, to each chance
That starts i'th'way before thee.
Corio.
O the Gods!

Com.
Ile follow thee a Moneth, deuise with thee
Where thou shalt rest, that thou may'st heare of vs,
And we of thee. So if the time thrust forth
A cause for thy Repeale, we shall not send O're the vast world, to seeke a single man,
And loose aduantage, which doth euer coole
Ith'absence of the needer.

Corio.
Fare ye well:
Thou hast yeares vpon thee, and thou art too full
Of the warres surfets, to go roue with one
That's yet vnbruis'd: bring me but out at gate.
Come my sweet wife, my dearest Mother, and
My Friends of Noble touch: when I am forth,
Bid me farewell, and smile. I pray you come:
While I remaine aboue the ground, you shall Heare from me still, and neuer of me ought
But what is like me formerly.

Menen.
That's worthily
As any earc can heare. Come, let's not weepe,
If I could shake off but one seuen yeeres
From these old armes and legges, by the good Gods
I'd with thee, euery foot.

Corio.
Giuie me thy hand, come.

Exeunt

[Act 4, Scene 2]

Enter the two Tribunes, Sicinius, and Brutus, with the Edile.

Sicin.
Bid them all home, he's gone: & wee'l no further,
The Nobility are vexed, whom we see haue sided
In his behalfe.

Brut.
Now we haue shewne our power,
Let vs seeme humbler after it is done,
Then when it was a dooing.

Sicin.
Bid them home: say their great enemy is gone,
And they, stand in their ancient strength.

Brut.
Dismisse them home. Here comes his Mother.

Enter Volumnia, Virgilia, and Menenius.

Sicin.
Let's not meet her.
Brut.
Why?
Sicin.
They say she's mad.
Brut.
They haue tane note of vs: keepe on your way.
Volum.
Oh y'are well met:
Th'hoorded plague a'th'Gods requit your loue.
Menen.
Peace, peace, be not so loud.
Volum.
If that I could for weeping, you should heare,
Nay, and you shall heare some. Will you be gone?
Virg.
You shall stay too: I would I had the power
To say so to my Husband.
Sicin.
Are you mankinde?
Volum.
I foole, is that a shame. Note but this Foole,
Was not a man my Father? Had'st thou Foxship
To banish him that strooke more blowes for Rome
Then thou hast spoken words.
Sicin.
Oh blessed Heauens!
Volum.
Moe Noble blowes, then euer (y)thou wise words.
And for Romes good, Ile tell thee what: yet goe:
Nay but thou shalt stay too: I would my Sonne
Were in Arabia, and thy Tribe before him,
His good Sword in his hand.
Sicin.
What then?
Virg.
When then? Hee'd make an end of thy posterity
Volum.
Bastards, and all.
Good man, the Wounds that he does beare for Rome!
Menen.
Come, come, peace.
Sicin.
I would he had continued to his Country
As he began, and not vnknit himselfe
The Noble knot he made.
Bru.
I would he had.
Volum.
I would he had? Twas thou incenst the rable.
Cats, that can judge as fitly of his worth,
As I can of those Mysteries which heauen
Will not have earth to know.

Brut.
Pray let's go.

Volum.
Now pray sir get you gone.
You have done a braue deed: Ere you go, heare this:
As farre as doth the Capitoll exceede
The meanest house in Rome; so farre my Sonne
This[Page 21]The Tragedie of Coriolanus.
This Ladies Husband here; this (do you see)
Whom you have banish'd, does exceed you all.

Bru.
Well, well, we'll leave you.

Sicin.
Why stay we to be baited
With one that wants her Wits.

Exit Tribunes.

Volum.
Take my Prayers with you.
I would the Gods had nothing else to do,
But to confirme my Curses. Could I meete 'em
But once a day, it would unclogge my heart
Of what lies heavy too't.

Mene.
You have told them home,
And by my troth you have cause: you'll Sup with me.

Volum.
Angers my Meate: I suppe upon my selfe,
And so shall sterue with Feeding: Come, let's go,
Leaue this faint-puling, and lament as I do,

Exeunt

Mene.
Fie, fie, fie.

Exit.

[Act 4, Scene 3]

Enter a Roman, and a Voice.

Rom.
I know you well sir, and you know mee: your name I thinke is Adrian.

Voice.
It is so sir, truly I have forgot you.

Rom.
I am a Roman, and my Servises are as you are, against 'em. Know you me yet.

Voice.
Nicanor: no.

Rom.
The same sir.
Volce.
You had more Beard when I last saw you, but your Fauour is well appear’d by your Tongue. What’s the Newes in Rome: I have a Note from the Volcean state to finde you out there. You have well saued mee a dayes iourney.

Rom.
There hath beene in Rome straunge Insurrection: The people, against the Senatours, Patricians, and Nobles.

Vol.
Hath bin; is it ended then? Our State thinks not so, they are in a most warlike preparation, & hope to com-upon them, in the heate of their diuision.

Rom.
The maine blaze of it is past, but a small thing would make it flame againe. For the Nobles receyue so to heart, the Banishment of that worthy Coriolanus, that they are in a ripe aptnesse, to take all power from the people, and to plucke from them their Tribunes for ever.
This lyes glowing I can tell you, and is almost mature for the violent breaking out.

Vol.
Coriolanus Banisht?

Rom.
Banish’d sir.

Vol.
You will be welcome with this intelligence Nicanor.

Rom.
The day serues well for them now. I haue heard it saide, the fittest time to corrupt a mans Wife, is when shee’s falne out with her Husband. Your Noble Tullus Auffidius [will] appeare well in these Warres, his great Opposer Coriolanus being now in no request of his countrey.

Volce.
He cannot choose: I am most fortunate, thus accidentally to encounter you. You haue ended my Businesse, and I will merrily accompany you home.

Rom.
I shall betwene this and Supper, tell you most strange things from Rome: all tending to the good of their Aduersaries. Haue you an Army ready say you?

Vol.
A most Royall one: The Centurions, and their charges distinctly billeted already in th’entertainment, and to be on foot at an houres warning.

Rom.
I am ioyfull to heare of their readinesse, and am the man I thinke, that shall set them in present Action. So sir, heartily well met, and most glad of your Company.

Volce.
You take my part from me sir, I haue the most cause to be glad of yours.

Rom.
Well, let vs go together.

Exeunt.

[Act 4, Scene 4]

Enter Coriolanus in meane Apparrell, Dis guisd, and muffled.

Corio.
A goodly City is this Antium. Citty,
'Tis I that made thy Widdowes: Many an heyre
Of these faire Edifices fore my Warres
Haue I heard groane, and drop: Then know me not,
Least that thy Wiues with Spits, and Boyes with stones
In puny Battell slay me. Saue you sir.

Enter a Citizen.

Cit.
And you.

Corio.
Direct me, if it be your will, where great Auf fidius lies: Is he in Antium?

Cit.
He is, and Feasts the Nobles of the State, at his house this night.

Corio.
Which is his house, beseech you?

Cit.
This heere before you.

Corio.
Thanke you sir, farewell.

Exit Citizen

Oh World, thy slippery tur nnes! Friends now fast sworn,
Whose double bosomes seemes to weare one heart,
Whose Houres, whose Bed, whose Meale and Exercise
Are still together: who Twin (as 'twere) in Loue,
Vnseparable, shall within this houre,
On a dissention of a Doit, breake out
To bitterest Enmity: So fellest Foes,
Whose Passions, and whose Plots haue broke their sleep
To take the one the other, by some chance,
Some tricke not worth an Egge, shall grow deere friends
And inter-joyne their yssues. So with me,
My Birth-place haue I, and my loues vpon
This Enemie Towne: Ile enter, if he slay me
He does faire Justice: if he give me way,
Ile do his Country Serviece.
Exit.

[Act 4, Scene 5]

Musicke playes. Enter a Seruingman.

1 Ser.
Wine, Wine, Wine: What seruice is heere? I thinke our Fellowes are asleepe.
Enter another Seruingman.

2 Ser.
Where's Cotus: my (M.)Master cals for him: Cotus. Exit
Enter Coriolanus.

Corio.
A goodly House:
The Feast smels well: but I appeare not like a Guest.

Enter the first Seruingman.

1 Ser.
What would you haue Friend? whence are you?
Here's no place for you: pray go to the doore? Exit.

Corio.
I haue deseru'd no better entertainment, in be ing Coriolanus.
Enter second Servant.

2 Ser.
Whence are you sir? Ha's the Porter his eyes in his head, that he giues entrance to such Companions?
Pray get you out.

Corio.
Away.

2 Ser.
Away? Get you away.

Corio.
Now th'art troublesome.

2 Ser.
Are you so braue: Ile haue you talkt with anon
Enter 3 Seruingman, the 1 meets him.

What Fellowes this?
1
A strange one as euer I look'd on: I cannot get him out o'th'house: Prythee call my Master to him.

Corio.
Let me but stand, I will not hurt your Harth.

What are you?

Corio.
A Gentleman.

A maru'llous poore one.

Corio.
True, so I am.

Pray you poore Gentleman, take vp some other station, [Page 22] The Tragedie of Coriolanus. tion: Heere's no place for you, pray you avoid: Come.

Corio.
Follow your Function, go, and batten on colde bits.

Pushes him away from him.

What you will not? Prythee tell my Maister what a strange Guest he ha's heere.

And I shall.

Exit second Servingman.

Where dwel'st thou?

Corio.
Vnder the Canopy.

Where's that?

Corio.
I'th City of Kites and crowes.

I'th City of Kites and Crowes? What an Asse it is, then thou dwel'st with Dawes too?

Corio.
No, I serue not thy Master.

How sir? Do you meddle with my Master?

Corio.
I, tis an honester seruice, then to meddle with thy Mistris: Thou prat'st, and prat'st, serue with thy tren cher: Hence.

Beats him away

Enter Auffidius with the Servingman.

Auf.
Where is this Fellow?

Here sir, I'de haue beaten him like a dogge, but for disturbing the Lords within.

Auf.
Whence com'st thou? What wouldst (y)thou? Thy name?
Why speak'st not? Speake man: What's thy name?

Corio.
If Tullus not yet thou know'st me, and seeing me, dost not thinke me for the man I am, necessitie commands me name my selfe.

Auf.
What is thy name?

Corio.
A name vnmusicall to the Volcians eares,
And harsh in sound to thine.

Auf.
Say, what's thy name?
Thou hast a Grim apparance, and thy Face
Beares a Command in't: Though thy Tackles torne,
Thou shew'st a Noble Vessell: What's thy name?

Corio.
Prepare thy brow to frowne: knowst (y)thou me yet?

Auf.
I know thee not? Thy Name?

Corio.
My name is Caius Martius, who hath done
To thee particularly, and to all the Volces
Great hurt and Mischief: thereto witnesse may
My Surname Coriolanus. The painfull Seruice,
The extreme Dangers, and the droppes of Blood
Shed for my thanklesse Country, are requitted:
But with that Surname, a good memorie
And witnesse of the Malice and Displeasure
Which thou should'st beare me, only that name remains.
The Cruelty and Enuy of the people,
Permitted by our dastard Nobles, who
Haue all forsooke me, hath deuour'd the rest:
And suffer'd me by th'voyce of Slaues to be Hoop'd out of Rome. Now this extremity, Hath brought me to thy Harth, not out of Hope (Mistake me not) to saue my life: for if I had fear'd death, of all the Men i'th'World
I would haue voided thee. But in meere spight
To be full quit of those my Banishers,
Stand I before thee heere: Then if thou hast
A heart of wreake in thee, that wilt reuenge
Thine owne particular wrongs, and stop those maimes
Of shame scene through thy Country, speed thee straight
And make my misery serue thy turne: So vse it,
That my reuengefull Seruices may proue
As Benefits to thee. For I will fight Against my Cankred Countrey, with the Spleene
Of all the vnder Fiends. But if so be,
Thou dar'st not this, and that to proue more Fortunes
Th'art tyr'd, then in a word, I also am
Longer to liue most wearie: and present
My throat to thee, and to thy Ancient Malice:
Which not to cut, would shew thee but a Foole,
Since I haue euer followed thee with hate,
Drawne Tunnes of Blood out of thy Countries brest,
And cannot liue but to thy shame, vnlesse
It be to do thee service.

Auf.
Oh Martius, Martius;
Each word thou hast spoke, hath weeded from my heart
A roote of Ancient Enuy. If Jupiter
Should from yond clowd speake diuine things,
And say 'tis true; I'd not beleue them more
Then thee all Noble Martius. Let me twine Mine armes about that body, where against
My grained Ash an hundred times hath broke,
And scarr'd the Moone with splinters: heere I cleep
The Anuile of my Sword, and do contest
As hotly, and as Nobly with thy Loue,
As euer in Ambitious strength, I did
Contend against thy Valour. Know thou first,
I lou'd the Maid I married: neuer man
Sigh'd truer breath. But that I see thee heere
Thou Noble thing, more dances my rapt heart,
Then when I first my wedded Mistris saw
Bestride my Threshold. Why, thou Mars I tell thee,
We have a Power on foot: and I had purpose
Once more to hew thy Target from thy Brawne,
Or loose mine Arme for't: Thou hast beate mee out twelue seuerall times, and I haue nightly since Dreamt of encounters 'twixt thy selfe and me:
We haue beene downe together in my sleepe,
Vabuckling Helmes, fisting each others Throat,
And wak'd halfe dead with nothing. Worthy Martius,
Had we no other quarrell else to Rome, but that Thou art thence Banish'd, we would muster all
From twelue, to seuentie: and powring Warre
Into the bowels of vngratefull Rome,
Like a bold Flood o're-beate. Oh come, go in,
And take our Friendly Senators by'th'hands
Who now are heere, taking their leaues of mee,
Who am prepar'd against your Territories,
Though not for Rome it selfe.

Corio.
You blesse me Gods.

Auf.
Therefore most absolute Sir, if thou wilt haue
The leading of thine owne Reuenges, take Th'one halfe of my Commission, and set downe
As best thou art experienc'd, since thou know'st
Thy Countries strength and weaknesse, thine owne waies
Whether to knocke against the Gates of Rome,
Or rudely visit them in parts remote,
To fright them, ere destroy. But come in,
Let me commend thee first, to those that shall Say yea to thy desires. A thousand welcomes,
And more a Friend, then ere an Enemie,
Yet Martius that was much. Your hand: most welcome.

Exeunt

Enter two of the Servingsmen.

Heere's a strange alteration?

By my hand, I had thoght to haue stroken him with a Cudgell, and yet my minde gaue me, his cloathes made a false report of him.

What an Arme he has, he turn'd me about with his finger and his thumbe, as one would set vp a Top.

Nay, I knew by his face that there was some-thing in him. He had sir, a kinde of face me thought, I cannot tell [Page 23]The Tragedie of Coriolanus. tell how to tearme it.

He had so, looking as it were, would I were hang'd but I thought there was more in him, then I could think.

So did I, Ile be sworne: He is simply the rarest man i'th'world.

I thinke he is: but a greater soldier then he,
You wot one.

Who my Master?

Nay, it's no matter for that.

Worth six on him.

Nay not so neither: but I take him to be the greater Souldiour.

Fai [..]h looke you, one cannot tell how to say that: for the Defence of a Towne, our Generall is excellent.

I, and for an assault too.

Enter the third Servingsman.

Oh Slaues, I can tell you Newes, News you Rascals

Both.

3
I would not be a Roman of all Nations; I had as liue be a condemn'd man.

Both.
Wherefore? Wherefore?
3
Why here's he that was wont to thwacke our Ge nerall, Caius Martius.
1
Why do you say, thwacke our Generall?
3
I do not say thwacke our Generall, but he was al
wayes good enough for him
Come we are fellowes and friends: he was euer too hard for him, I haue heard him say so himselfe.
1
He was too hard for him directly, to say the Troth on't before Corioles, he scotcht him, and noteht him like a Carbinado.
And hee had bin Cannibally giuen, hee might haue boyled and eaten him too.
1
But more of thy Newes.
3
Why he is so made on heere within, as if hee were Son and Heire to Mars, set at vpper end o'th'Table: No question askt him by any of the Senators, but they stand bald before him. Our Generall himselfe makes a Mistris of him, Sanctifies himselfe with's hand, and turnes vp the white o'th'eye to his Discourse. But the bottome of the Newes is, our Generall is cut i'th'middle, & but one halfe of what he was yesterday. For the other ha's halfe, by the intreaty and graunt of the whole Table. Hee'l go he sayes, and sole the Porter of Rome Gates by th'eares. He will mowe all downe before him, and leaue his passage poul'd.
2
And he's as like to do't, as any man I can imagine.
Doo't? he will doo't: for look you sir, he has as ma ny Friends as Enemies: which Friends sir as it were, durst not (looke you sir) shew themselues (as we terme it) his Friends, whilst he's in Directitude.
1 Directitude? What's that?
3
But when they shall see sir, his Crest vp againe, and the man in blood, they will out of their Burroughes (like Conies after Raine) and reuell all with him.
But when goes this forward:

3 To morrow, to day, presently, you shall haue the Drum strooke vp this afternoone: 'Tis as it were a parcel of their Feast, and to be executed ere they wipe their lips.

2 Why then wee shall haue a stirring World againe: This peace is nothing, but to rust Iron, encrease Taylors, and breed Ballad-makers.

1 Let me haue Warre say I, it exceeds peace as farre as day do's night: It's sprightly walking, audible, and full of Vent. Peace, is a very Apoplexy, Lethargie, mull'd, deafe, sleepe, insensible, a getter of more bastard Children, then warres a destroyer of men.

2 'Tis so, and as warres in some sort may be saide to be a Rauisher, so it cannot be denied, but peace is a great maker of Cuckolds.

1 I, and it makes men hate one another.

3 Reason, because they then lesse neede one another: The Warres for my money. I hope to see Romanes as cheape as Volcians. They are rising, they are rising.

Both.
In, in, in, in.

Exeunt

[Act 4, Scene 6]

Enter the two Tribunes, Sicinius, and Brutus.

Sicin.
We heare not of him, neither need we fear him,
His remedies are tame, the present peace,
And quietnesse of the people, which before
Were in wilde hurry. Heere do we make his Friends Blush, that the world goes well: who rather had,
Though they themselues did suffer by't, behold
Dissentious numbers pestring streets, then see
Our Tradesmen singing in their shops, and going
About their Functions friendly.

Enter Menenius.

Bru.
We stood too't in good time. Is this Menenius?

Sicin.
'Tis he, 'tis he: O he is grown most kind of late:
Haile Sir.

Mene.
Haile to you both.

Sicin.
Your Corioloanus is not much mist, but with his Friends: the Commonwealth doth stand, and so would do, were he more angry at it.

Mene.
All's well, and might haue bene much better,
if he could haue temporiz'd.

Sicin.
Where is he, heare you?

Mene.
Nay I heare nothing:
His Mother and his wife, heare nothing from him.

Enter three or foure Citizens.

All.
The Gods preserue you both.

Sicin.
Gooden our Neighbours.

Bru.
Gooden to you all, gooden to you all.

Our selues, our wiues, and children, on our knees,
Are bound to pray for you both.

Sicin.
Liue, and thriue.

Bru.
Farewell kinde Neighbours:
We wisht Corioloanus had lou'd you as we did.

All.
Now the Gods keepe you.

Both Tri.
Farewell, farewell.

Exeunt Citizens

Sicin.
This is a happier and more comely time,
Then when these Fellowes ran about the streets,
Crying Confusion.

Bru.
Caius Martius was
A worthy Officer i' th' Warre, but Insolent,
O'recome with Pride, Ambitious, past all thinking
Selfe-louing.

Sicin.
And affecting one sole Throne, without (assistance) assistance

Mene.
I thinke not so.

Sicin.
We should by this, to all our Lamention,
If he had gone forth Consull, found it so.

Bru.
The Gods haue well prevented it, and Rome
Sits safe and still, without him.

Enter an Edile.
Ædile.
Worthy Tribunes,
There is a Slaue whom we haue put in prison,
Reports the Volces with two seuerall Powers
Are entred in the Roman Territories,
And with the deepest malice of the Warre,
Destroy, what lies before' em.

Mene.
'Tis Auffidius,
Who hearing of our Martius Banishment,
Thrusts forth his hornes againe into the world
Which were In-shell'd, when Martius stood for Rome,
And durst not once peepe out.

Sicin.
Come, what talke you of Martius.

Bru.
Go see this Rumorer whipt, it cannot be,
The Volces dare breake with vs.

Mene.
Cannot be?
We haue Record, that very well it can,
And three examples of the like, hath beene
Within my Age. But reason with the fellow
Before you punish him, where he heard this,
Least you shall chance to whip your Information,
And beate the Messenger, who bids beware
Of what is to be dreaded.

Sicin.
Tell not me: I know this cannot be.

Bru.
Not possible.

Mes.
The Nobles in great earnestnesse are going
All to the Senate-house: some newes is comming
That turns their Countenances.

Sicin.
'Tis this Slaue:
Go whip him fore the peoples eyes: His raising,
Nothing but his report.

Mes.
Yes worthy Sir,
The Slaues report is seconded, and more
More fearfull is deliuer'd.

Sicin.
What more fearfull?

Mes.
It is spoke freely out of many mouths,
How probable I do not know, that Martius
Ioyn'd with Auffidius, leads a power 'gainst Rome,
And vowes Reuenge as spacious, as betweene
The yong' st and oldest thing.

Sicin.
This is most likely.

Bru.
Rais'd onely, that the weaker sort may wish
Good Martius home againe.

Sicin.
The very tricke on't.

Mene.
This is unlikely,
He, and Auffidius can no more attone
Then violent'st Contrariety.

Enter Messenger.

Mes.
You are sent for to the Senate:
A fearefull Army, led by Caius Martius,
Associated with Auffidius, Rages
Upon our Territories, and haue already O're-borne their way, consum'd with fire, and tooke
What lay before them.

Enter Cominius.

Com.
Oh you haue made good worke.

Mene.
What newes? What newes?

Com.
You haue holp to rauish your owne daughters, &
To melt the Citty Leades vpon your pates,
To see your Wiues dishonour'd to your Noses.

Mene.
What's the newes? What's the newes?

Com.
Your Temples burned in their Ciment, and Your Franchises, whereon you stood, confin'd
Into an Augors boare.

Mene.
Pray now, your Newes:
You haue made faire worke I feare me: pray your newes,
If Martius should be ioyn'd with Volceans.

Com.
If? He is their God, he leads them like a thing
Made by some other Deity then Nature,
That shapes man Better: and they follow him
Against vs Brats, with no lesse Confidence,
Then Boyes pursuing Summer Butter-flies,
Or Butchers killing Flyes.

Mene.
You haue made good worke,
You and your Apron men: you, that stood so much Vpon the voyce of occupation, and
The breath of Garlick-eaters.

Com.
Hee'll shake your Rome about your eares.

Mene.
As Hercules did shake downe Mellow Fruite:
You haue made faire worke.

Brut.
But is this true sir?

Com.
I, and you'l looke pale
Before you finde it other. All the Regions
Do smilingly Reuolt, and who resists
Are mock'd for valiant Ignorance,
And perish constant Fooles: who is't can blame him?
Your Enemies and his, finde something in him.

Mene.
We are all vndone, vnlesse
The Noble man haue mercy.

Com.
Who shall aske it?
The Tribunes cannot doo't for shame; the people
Deserue such pitty of him, as the Wolfe
Doe's of the Shepheards: For his best Friends, if they Should say be good to Rome, they charg'd him, even
As those should do that had deseru'd his hate,
And therein shew'd like Enemies.

Me.
'Tis true, if he were putting to my house, the brand
That should consume it, I haue not the face
To say, beseech you cease. You haue made faire hands,
You and your Crafts, you haue crafted faire.

Com.
You haue brought
A Trembling vpon Rome, such as was neuer
S'incapeable of helpe.

Tri.
Say not, we brought it.

Mene.
How? Was't we? We lou'd him,
But like Beasts, and Cowardly Nobles,
Gaue way vnto your Clusters, who did hoote
Him out o'th'Citty.

Com.
But I feare
They'l roare him in againe. Tullus Affidius,
The secon name of men, obeyes his points
As if he were his Officer: Desperation,
Is all the Policy, Strength, and Defence
That Rome can make against them.

Mene.

Enter a Troope of Citizens.
Heere come the Clusters.
And is Auffidius with him? You are they
That made the Ayre vnwholsome, when you cast
Your stinking, greasie Caps, in hooting
At Coriolanus Exile. Now he's comming,
And not a haire vpon a Souldiers head
Which will not proue a whip: As many Coxcombes
As you threw Caps vp, will he tumble downe,
And pay you for your voyces. 'Tis no matter,
If he could burne vs all into one coale,
We haue deseru'd it.

Omnnes.
Faith, we heare fearfull Newes.

1 Cit.
for mine owne part,
When I said banish him, I said 'twas pity.

2
And so did I.

And so did I: and to say the truth, so did very ma ny of vs, that we did we did for the best, and though wee willingly consented to his Banishment, yet it was against our will.

Com.
Y'are goodly things, you Voyces.

Mene.
You haue made good worke
You and your cry. Shal's to the Capitoll?

Com.
Oh I, what else?
Exeunt both.

Sicin.
Go Masters get you home, be not dismaid,
These are a Side, that would be glad to haue
This true, which they so seeme to feare. Go home,
And shew no signe of Feare.

1. Cit.
The Tragedie of Coriolanus.

1 Cit.
The Gods bee good to vs: Come Masters let's home, I euer said we were i'th wrong, when we banish'd him.

2 Cit.
So did we all. But come, let's home.

Exeunt Cit.

Bru.
I do not like this Newes.

Sicin.
Nor I.

Bru.
Let's to the Capitoll: would halfe my wealth
Would buy this for a lye.

Sicin.
Pray let's go.

Exeunt Tribunes.

[Act 4, Scene 7]

Enter Auffidius with his Lieutenant.

Auf.
Do they still flye to'th'Roman?

Lieu.
I do not know what Witchcraft's in him: but
Your Soldiers vse him as the Grace 'fore meate,
Their talke at Table, and their Thankes at end,
And you are darkned in this action Sir,
Euen by your owne.

Auf.
I cannot helpe it now,
Vnlesse by vsing meanes I lame the foote
Of our designe. He beares himselfe more proudlier, Euen to my person, then I thought he would
When first I did embrace him. Yet his Nature
In that's no Changeling, and I must excuse
What cannot be amended.

Lieu.
Yet I wish Sir,
(I meane for your particular) you had not Joyn'd in Commission with him: but either haue borne
The action of your selfe, or else to him, had left it soly.

Auf.
I vnderstand thee well, and be thou sure
When he shall come to his account, he knowes not
What I can vrge against him, although it seemes
And so he thinkes, and is no lesse apparant
To th'vulgar eye, that he beares all things fairly:
And shewes good Husbandry for the Volcian State,
Fights Dragon-like, and does atcheue as soone
As draw his Sword: yet he hath left vndone
That which shall breake his necke, or hazard mine,
When ere we come to our account.

Lieu.
Sir, I beseech you, think you he'l carry Rome?

Auf.
All places yeelds to him ere he sits downe,
And the Nobility of Rome are his:
The Senators and Patricians loue him too:
The Tribunes are no Soldiers: and their people
Will be as rash in the repeale, as hasty
To expell him thence. I thinke hee'l be to Rome
As is the Aspray to the Fish, who takes it
By Soueraignty of Nature. First, he was A Noble servaunt to them, but he could not Carry his Honors [euen]: whether 'was Pride Which out of dayly Fortune euer taints The happy man; whether detect of judgement, To faile in the disposing of those chances Which he was Lord of: or whether Nature, Not to be other then one thing, not mouing From th'Caske to th'Cushion: but commanding peace Euen with the same austerity and garbe, As he controll'd the warre. But one of these (As he hath spices of them all) not all, For I dare so farre free him, made him fear'd, So hated, and so banish'd: but he ha's a Merit To choake it in the vtt'rance: So our Vertue, Lie in th'interpretation of the time, And power vnto it selfe most commendable, Hath not a Tombe so euident as a Chaire T'extoll what it hath done.

One fir[e] d [...]es out one fire; one Naile, one Naile; Rights by rights fouler, strengths by strengths do faile. Come let's away: when Caius Rome is thine, Thou art poore'st of all; then shortly art thou mine.

Actus Quintus.
[Act 5, Scene 1]

Enter Menenius, Cominius, Sicinius, Brutus, the two Tribunes, with others.

Menen. No, ile not go: you heare what he hath said Which was sometime his Generall: who loued him In a most deere particular. He call'd me Father: But what o'that? Go you that banish'd him A Mile before his Tent, fall downe, and knee The way into his mercy: Nay, if he coy'd To heare Cominius speake, Ile keepe at home.

Com. He would not seeme to know me.

Menen. Do you heare?

Com. Yet one time he did call me by my name: I vrg'd our old acquaintance, and the drops That we haue bled together. Coriolanus He would not answer too: Forbad all Names, He was a kinde of Nothing, Titlelesse, Till he had forg'd himselfe a name a'th'fire Of burning Rome.

Menen.
Why so: you haue made good worke:
A paire of Tribunes, that haue wrack'd for Rome,
To make Coales cheape: A Noble memory.

Com.
I minded him, how Royall 'twas to pardon
When it was lesse expected. He replyed
It was a bare petition of a State
To one whom they had punish'd

Menen.
Very well, could he say lesse.

Com.
I offered to awaken his regard
For's priuate Friends. His answer to me was
He could not stay to picke them, in a pile
Of noysome musty Chaffe. He said, 'twas folly
For one poore graine or two, to leaue vnburnt
And still to nose th'offence.

Menen.
For one poore graine or two?
I am one of those: his Mother, Wife, his Childe,
And this braue Fellow too: we are the Graines,
You are the musty Chaffe, and you are smelt Aboue the Moone. We must be burnt for you.

Sicin.
Nay, pray be patient: If you refuse your ayde
In this so neuer-needed helpe, yet do not Vpbraid's with our distresse. But sure if you
Would be your Countries Pleader, your good tongue
More then the instant Armie we can make Might stop our Countryman.

Mene.
No: Ile not meddle.

Sicin.
Pray you go to him.

Mene.
What should I do?

Bru.
Onely make triall what your Loue can do,
For Rome, towards Martius.

Mene.
Well, and say that Martius returne mee,
As Cominius is return'd, vnheard: what then?
But as a discontented Friend, greefe-shot
With his vnkindnesse. Say't be so?

Sicin.
Yet your good will Must haue that thankses from Rome, after the measure
As you intended well

Mene.
Ile vndertak't:
I thinke hee'l heare me. Yet to bite his lip,
And humme at good Cominius, much vnhearts mee.

He was not taken well, he had not din'd,
The Veines vnfill'd, our blood is cold, and then
We powt vpon the Morning, are vnapt
To giue or to forgue; but when we haue stufft
These Pipes, and these Conveyances of our blood
With Wine and Feeding, we haue supplser Soules
Then in our Priest-like Fasts: therefore Ile watch him
Till he be dieted to my request,
And then Ile set vpon him.

Bru.
You know the very rode into his kindnesse,
And cannot lose your way.

Mene.
Good faith Ile proue him,
Speed how it will. I shall ere long, haue knowledge
Of my successe.

Exit.

Com.
Hee'l neuer heare him.

Sicin.
Not.

Com.
I tell you, he doe's sit in Gold, his eye
Red as 'twould burne Rome: and his Iniury
The Gaoler to his pitty. I kneel'd before him,
'Twas very faintly he said Rise: dismist me
Thus with his speechlesse hand. What he would do
He sent in writing after me: wha
what he would not,
Bound with an Oath to yeeld to his conditions:
So that all hope is vaine, vnlesse his Noble Mother,
And his Wife, who (as I heare) meane to solicite him
For mercy to his Countrey: therefore let's hence,
And with our faire intreaties hast them on.

Exit

[Act 5, Scene 2]

Enter Menenius to the Watch or Guard.

1. Wat.
Stay: whence are you.

2. Wat.
Stand, and go backe.

Me.
You guard like men, 'tis well. But by your leaue,
I am an Officer of State, & come to speak with Coriolanus

From whence?

Mene.
From Rome.
1 You may not passe, you must returne: our Generall will no more heare from thence.

2 You'l see your Rome embrac'd with fire, before You'l speake with Coriolanus

Mene.
Good my Friends,
If you haue heard your Generall talke of Rome, And of his Friends there, it isLots to Blankes, My name hath touch't your eares: it is Menenius.

1 Be it so, go back: the vertue of your name, Is not heere passable.

Mene.
I tell thee Fellow, Thy Generall is my Louer: I haue beene The booke of his good Acts, whence men haue read His Fame vnparalleld, happily amplified: For I haue euer verified my Friends, (Of whom hee's cheefe) with all the size that verity Would without lapsing suffer: Nay, sometimes, Like to a Bowle vpon a subtle ground I haue tumbled past the throw: and in his praise Haue (almost) stampt the Leasing. Therefore Fellow, I must haue leaue to passe.

1 Faith Sir, if you had told as many lies in his behalfe, as you haue vttered words in your owne, you should not passe heere: no, though it were as vertuous to lye, as to liue chastly. Therefore go backe.

Men.
Prythee fellow, remember my name is Menenius, alwayes factionary on the party of your Generall.

2 Howsoever you haue bin his Lier, as you say you haue, I am one that telling true vnder him, must say you cannot passe. Therefore go backe.

Mene.
Ha's he din'd can'st thou tell? For I would not speake with him, till after dinner.

1 You are a Roman, are you?

Mene.
I am as thy Generall is.

1 Then you should hate Rome, as he do's. Can you, when you haue pusht out your gates, the very Defender of them, and in a violent popular ignorance, giuen your enemy your shield, thinke to front his reuenges with the easie groanes of old women, the Virginall Palms of your daughters, or with the palsied intercession of such a decay'd Dotant as you seeme to be? Can you think to blow out the intended fire, your City is ready to flame in, with such weake breath as this? No, you are deceiu'd, thereforc backe to Rome, and prepare for your execution: you are condemn'd, our Generall has sworne you out of repreeue and pardon.

Mene.
Sirra, if thy Captaine knew I were heere,
He would vse me with estimation.

Come, my Captaine knowes you not.

Mene.
I meane thy Generall.

My Generall cares not for you. Back I say, go: least
I let forth your halfe pinte of blood. Backe, that's the vt most of your hauing, backe.

Mene.
Nay but Fellow, Fellow.

Enter Coriolanus with Auffidius.

Corio.
What's the matter?

Mene.
Now you Companion: Ile say an arrant for you:
you shall know now that I am in estimation: you shall perceiue, that a Jacke gardant cannot office me from my Son Coriolanus, guesse but my entertainement with him: if thou stand'st not i'th state of hanging, or of some death more long in Spectatorship, and crueller in suffering, be hold now presently, and swoond for what's to come vpon thee. The glorious Gods sit in hourely Synod about thy particular prosperity, and loue thee no worse then thy old Father Menenius do's. O my Son, my Son! thou art pre paring fire for vs: looke thee, heere's water to quench it.
I was hardly moued to come to thee: but beeing assured none but my selfe could moue thee, I haue bene blowne out of your Gates with sighes: and coniure thee to par don Rome, and thy petitionary Countrimen. The good Gods asswage thy wrath, and turne the dregs of it, vpon this Varlet heere: This, who like a blocke hath denied my accesso to thee.

Corio.
Away

Mene.
How? Away?

Corio.
Wife, Mother, Child, I know not. My affaires
Are Seruanted to others: Though I owe
My Reuenge properly, my remission lies
In Volcean brests. That we haue beene familiar, Ingrate forgetfulness shall poison rather
Then pity: Note how much, therefore be gone.
Mine eares against your suits, are stronger then
Your gates against my force. Yet for I loued thee,
Take this along, I writ it for thy sake,
And would have sent it. Another word Menenius,
I will not hear thee speake. This man Auffidius
Was my belou'd in Rome: yet thou behold'st.

Auffid.
You keepe a constant temper.

Exeunt

Manet the Guard and Menenius.

1
Now sir, is your name Menenius?
2
'Tis a spell you see of much power:
You know the way home again.
1
Do you hear how we are shent for keeping your greatnesse backe?
2
What cause do you thinke I haue to swoond?

Menen.
I neither care for th'world, nor your General:
for such things as you. I can scarce thinke ther's any, y'are so slight. He that hath a will to die by himselfe, feares it not [Page 27]The Tragedie of Coriolanus. not from another: Let your Generall do his worst. For you, bee that you are, long; and your misery increase with your age. I say to you, as I was said to, Away.

Exit

1
A Noble Fellow I warrant him.

2
The worthy Fellow is our General. He's the Rock,
The Oake not to be winde-shaken.

Exit Watch.

[Act 5, Scene 3]

Enter Coriolanus and Auffidius.

Corio.
We will before the walls of Rome to morrow
Set downe our Hoast. My partner in this Action,
You must report to th'Volcian Lords, how plainly
I have borne this Businesse.

Auff.
Onely their ends you have respected,
Stopt your eares against the generall suite of Rome:
Neuer admitted a priuat whisper, no not with such frends
That thought them sure of you.

Corio.
This last old man,
Whom with a crack'd heart I haue sent to Rome,
Lou'd me, aboue the measure of a Father,
Nay godded me indeed. Their latest refuge
Was to send him: for whose old Loue I haue
(Though I shew'd sowrely to him) once more offer'd
The first Conditions which they did refuse,
And cannot now accept, to grace him onely,
That thought he could do more: A very little
I haue yeelded too. Fresh Embasses, and Suites,
Nor from the State, nor pruiate friends heereafter
Will I lend eare to. Ha? what shout is this?

Shout within
Shall I be tempted to infringe my vow
In the same time 'tis made? I will not.

Enter Virgilia, Volumnia, Valeria, yong Martius, with Attendants.

My wife comes formost, then the honour'd mould
Wherein this Trunke was fram'd, and in her hand
The Grandchilde to her blood. But out affection,
All bond and pruilege of Nature breake;
Let it be Vertuous to be Obstinate.
What is that Curt'sie worth? Or those Doues eyes,
Which can make Gods forsworne? I melt, and am not
Of stronger earth then others: my Mother bowes,
As if Olympus to a Mole-hill should
In supplication Nod: and my yong Boy
Hath an Aspect of intercession, which Great Nature cries, Deny not. Let the Volces
Plough Rome, and harrow Italy, Ile neuer
Be such a Gosling to obey instinct; but stand
As if a man were Author of himself, & knew no other kin

Virgil.
My Lord and Husband.

Corio.
These eyes are not the same I wore in Rome.

Virg.
The sorrow that deliuers vs thus chang'd,
Makes you thinke so.

Corio.
Like a dull Actor now, I haue forgot my part,
And I am out, euen to a full Disgrace. Best of my Flesh,
Forgiuue my Tyranny; but do not say,
For that forgue our Romanes. O a kisse
Long as my Exile, sweet as my Reuenge!
Now by the jealous Queene of Heauen, that kisse
I carried from thee deare; and my true Lippe
Hath Virgin'd it ere since. You Gods, I pray,
And the most noble Mother of the world
Leaue vnsaluted: Sinke my knee i'th'earth, Kneeles
Of thy deepe duty, more impression shew
Then that of common Sonnes.

Volum.
Oh stand vp blest!
Whil'st with no softer Cushion then the Flint
I kneele before thee, and vnproperly
Shew duty as mistaken, all this while,
Betweene the Childe, and Parent.

Corio.
What's this? your knees to me?
To your Corrected Sonne?
Then let the Pibbles on the hungry beach
Fillop the Starres: Then, let the mutinous windes
Strike the proud Cedars 'gainst the fiery Sun:
Murd'ring Impossibility, to make
What cannot be, slight worke.

Volum.
Thou art my Warriour, I hope to frame thee
Do you know this Lady?

Corio.
The Noble Sister of Publicola;
The Moone of Rome: Chaste as the Isicle
That's curdied by the Frost, from purest Snow,
And hangs on Dians Temple: Deere Valeria.

Volum.
This is a poore Epitome of yours,
Which by th'interpretation of full time,
May shew like all your selfe.

Corio.
The God of Souldiers:
With the consent of supreame Ioue, informe
Thy thoughts with Noblenesse, that thou mayst proue
To shame vnvulnerable, and sticke i'th Warres
Like a great Sea-marke standing eucry flaw,
And sauing those that eye thee.

Volum.
Your knee, Sirrah.

Corio.
That's my braue Boy.

Volum.
Euen he, your wife, this Ladie, and my selfe,
Are Sutors to you.

Corio.
I beseech you peace:
Or if you'd aske, remember this before;
The thing I haue forsworne to graunt, may neuer
Be held by you denials. Do not bid me
Dismisse my Soldiers, or capitulate
Againe, with Romes Mechanickes. Tell me not Wherein I seeme vnnaturall: Desire not t'allay
My Rages and Reuenges, with your colder reasons.

Volum.
Oh no more, no more:
You have said you will not grant us any thing:
For we have nothing else to ask, but that
Which you deny already: yet we will ask,
That if you fail in our request, the blame
May hang upon your hardness, therefore hear us.

Corio.
Auffidius, and you Volces make, for we'll Hear nothing from Rome in private. Your request?

Volum.
Should we be silent & not speak, our Raiment
And state of bodies would betray what life
We have led since thy Exile. Thinke with thy selfe,
How more unfortunate then all living women
Are we come hither, since that thy sight, which should Make our eyes flow with joy, hearts dance with comforts,
Constrains them weep, and shake with feare & sorrow;
Making the Mother, wife, and Child to see,
The Sonne, the Husband, and the Father tearing
His Countries Bowels out; and to poor we Thine enmities most capital: Thou barre'st us
Our prayers to the Gods, which is a comfort
That all but we enjoy. For how can we?
Alas! how can we, for our Country pray?
Wherefore we are bound, together with thy victory:
Wherefore we are bound: Alacke, or we must lose
The Cuntrie our deere Nurse, or else thy person
Our comfort in the Country. We must finde
An evident Calamity, though we had
Our wish, which side should win. For either thou Must as a Forraine Recreant be led
With Manacles through our streets, or else
Triumphantly tread on thy Countries ruine,
And bear the Palm, for hauing brauely shed
Thy Wife and Children's blood: For my selfe, Sonne,
I purpose not to waite on Fortune, till
These waeres determine: If I cannot perswade thee,
Rather to shew a Noble grace to both parts,
Then seek the end of one; thou shalt no sooner
March to assault thy Country, then to tread
(Trust too't, thou shalt not) on thy Mothers wombe
That brought thee to this world.

Virg.
I, and mine, that brought you forth this boy,
To keep your name living to time.

Boy.
A shall not tread on me: I'll run away
Till I am bigger, but then I'll fight.

Corio.
Not of a woman's tenderness to be,
Requires nor Childe, nor womans face to see:
I haue sate too long.

Volum.

Nay, go not from vs thus:
If it were so, that our request did tend
To saue the Romanes, thereby to destroy
The Volces whom you serue, you might condemne vs
As poysenous of your Honour. No, our suite
Is that you reconcile them: While the Volces
May say, this mercy we haue shew'd: the Romanes,
This we receiued, and each in either side
Gieue the All-haile to thee, and cry be Blest
For making vp this peace. Thou know'st (great Sonne)
The end of Warres vncertaine: but this certaine,
That if thou conquer Rome, the benefit
Which thou shalt thereby reape, is such a name
Whose repetition will be doggd with Curses:
Whose Chronicle thus writ, The man was Noble,
But with his last Attempt, he wip'd it out:
Destroy'd his Country, and his name remaines
To th'insuing Age, abhorr'd. Speake to me Son:
Thou hast affected the fiue straines of Honor,
To imitate the graces of the Gods.
To teare with Thunder the wide Cheekes a'th'Ayre,
And yet to change thy Sulphure with a Boult
That should but riue an Oake. Why do'st not speake?
Think'st thou it Honourable for a Nobleman
Still to remember wrongs? Daughter, speake you:
He cares not for your weeping. Speake thou Boy,
Perhaps thy childishnesse will moue him more
Then can our Reasons. There's no man in the world
More bound to's Mother, yet heere he let's me prate
Like one i'th'Stockes. Thou hast neuer in thy life,
Shew'd thy deere Mother any curtesie,
When she (poore Hen) fond of no second brood,
Ha's clock'd thee to the Warres: and safelie home
Loden with Honor. Say my Request's vniust,
And spurne me backe: But, if it be not so
Thou art not honest, and the Gods will plague Thee
That thou restraint'st from me the Duty, which
To a Mothers part belongs. He turnes away:
Down Ladies: let vs shame him with him with our knees
To his sur-name Coriolanus longs more pride
Then pitty to our Prayers. Downe: an end,
This is the last. So, we will home to Rome,
And dye among our Neighbours: Nay, behold's,
This Boy that cannot tell what he would haue,
But kneeles, and holds vp hands for fellowship,
Doe's reason our Petition with more strength
Then thou hast to deny't. Come, let vs go:
This Fellow had a Volcean to his Mother:
His Wife is in Corioles, and his Childe
Like him by chance: yet giue vs our dispatch:
I am hush't vntill our City be afire, & then Ile speak a little Holds her by the hand silent.

Corio.
O Mother, Mother!
What haue you done? Behold, the Heauens do ope,
The Gods looke downe, and this vnnaturall Scene
They laugh at. Oh my Mother, Mother: Oh!
You haue wonne a happy Victory to Rome.
But for your Sonne, beleue it: Oh beleue it,
Most dangerously you haue with him preuail'd,
If not most mortall to him. But let it come:
Auffidius, though I cannot make true Warres,
Ile frame conuenient peace. Now good Auffidius,
Were you in my steed, would you haue heard
A Mother lesse? or granted lesse Auffidius?

Auf.
I was mou'd withall.

Corio.
I dare be sworne you were:
And sir, it is no little thing to make
Mine eyes to sweat compassion. But (good sir)
What peace you'll make, advise me: For my part,
Ile not to Rome, Ile backe with you, and pray you Stand to me in this cause. Oh Mother! Wife!

Auf.
I am glad thou hast set thy mercy, & thy Honor
At difference in thee: Out of that Ile worke
My selfe a former Fortune.

Corio.
I by and by; But we will drinke together:
And you shall beare
A better witnesse backe then words, which we
On like conditions, will haue Counter-seal'd.
Come enter with vs: Ladies you deserve
To haue a Temple built you: All the Swords
In Italy, and her Confederate Armes
Could not haue made this peace.

Exeunt.

[Act 5, Scene 4]

Enter Menenius and Sicinius.

Mene.
See you yon'd Coin a'th Capitol, yon'd corner (stone?

Sicin.
Why what of that?

Mene.
If it be possible for you to displace it with your little finger, there is some hope the Ladies of Rome, especially his Mother, may prevail with him. But I say, there is no hope in't, our throats are sentenced, and stay upon execution.

Sicin.

Is't possible, that so short a time can alter the condition of a man.

Mene.

There is difference between a Grub & a Butterfly, yet your Butterfly was a Grub: this Martius, is grown from Man to Dragon: He has wings, he's more than a creeping thing.

Sicin.

He lou'd his Mother dearly.

Mene.

So did he mee: and he no more remembers his Mother now, then an eight yeare old horse. The tartness of his face, sources ripe Grapes. When he walks, he moves like an Engine, and the ground shrinks before his Treading. He is able to pierce a Corslet with his eye: Talks like a knell, and his hum is a Battery. He sits in his State, as a thing made for Alexander. What he bids be done, is finished with his bidding. He wants nothing of a God but Eternity, and a Heauen to Throne in.

Sicin.

Yes, mercy, if you report him truly.

Mene.

I paint him in the Character. Mark what mercy his Mother shall bring from him: There is no more mercy in him, then there is milk in a male-Tyger, that shall our poore City finde: and all this is long of you.

Sicin.

The Gods be good unto vs.

Mene.

No, in such a case the Gods will not be good unto vs. When we banish'd him, we respected not them: and he returning to breake our necks, they respect not vs.

Enter a Messenger.

Sir, if you'd saue your life, flye to your House, The Plebeians haue got your Fellow Tribune, And hale him vp and downe; all swearing, if The Romane Ladies bring not comfort home They'l giue him death by Inches.

Enter another Messenger.

What's the Newes?
Mess.
Good Newes, good newes, the Ladies haue (preuayl'd,
The Volcians are dislodg'd, and Martius gone:
A merrier day did neuer yet greet Rome,
No, not th'expulsion of the Tarquins.

Sicin.
Friend, art thou certaine this is true?
Is't most certaine.

Mes.
As certaine as I know the Sun is fire:
Where haue you lurk'd that you make doubt of it:
Ne're through an Arch so hurried the blowne Tide,
As the recomforted through th'gates. Why harke you:
Trumpets, Hoboyes, Drums beate, altogether.
The Trumpets, Sack-puts, Psalteries, and Fifes,
Tabors, and Symboles, and the showting Romans,
Make the Sunne dance. Hearke you.
A shout within

Mene.
This is good Newes:
I will go meete the Ladies. This Volumnia,
Is worth of Consuls, Senators, Patricians,
A City full: Of Tribunes such as you,
A Sea and Land full: you haue pray'd well to day:
This Morning, for ten thousand of your throates,
I'de not haue giuen a doit. Harke, how they ioy.
Sound still with the Shouts.

Sicin.
First, the Gods blesse you for your tydings:
Next, accept my thankefulnesse.

Mess.
Sir, we haue all great cause to giue great thanks.
Sicin.
They are neere the City.

Mes.
Almost at point to enter.

Sicin.
We'el meet them, and helpe the ioy.

Exeunt.

[Act 5, Scene 5]

Enter two Senators, with Ladies, passing over the Stage, with other Lords.

Sena.
Behold our Patronnesse, the life of Rome:
Call all your Tribes together, praise the Gods,
And make triumphant fires, strew Flowers before them:
Vnshoot the noise that Banish'd Martius;
Repeale him, with the welcome of his Mother:
Cry welcome Ladies, welcome.

All.
Welcome Ladies, welcome.
A Flourish with Drummes & Trumpets.

[Act 5, Scene 6]

Enter Tullus Aufidius, with Attendants.

Auf.
Go tell the Lords a'th'City, I am heere:
Deliuer them this Paper: hauing read it,
Bid them repayre to th'Market place, where I
Euen in theirs, and in the Commons eares
Will vouch the truth of it. Him I accuse:
The City Ports by this hath enter'd, and Intends t'appeare before the People, hoping
To purge himselfe with words. Dispatch.

Enter 3 or 4 Conspirators of Aufidius Faction.

Most Welcome.

1. Con.
How is it with our Generall?

Auf.
Euen so, as with a man by his owne Almes im
poysong'd, and with his Charity slaine.

2. Con.
Most Noble Sir, If you do hold the same intent
Wherein you wisht vs parties: Wee'l deliuer you
Of your great danger.

Auf.
Sir, I cannot tell,
We must proceed as we do finde the People.

3. Con.
The People will remaine vncertaine, whil'st
'Twixt you there's difference: but the fall of either
Makes the Srvuioor heyre of all.

Auf.
I know it:
And my pretext to strike at him, admits
A good construction. I rais'd him, and I pawn'd
Mine Honor for his truth: who being so heighten'd,
He watered his new Plants with dewes of Flattery,
Seducing so my Friends: and to this end,
He bow'd his Nature, neuer knowne before,
But to be rough, vnswayable, and free.

3. Consp.
Sir, his stoutnesse
When he did stand for Consull, which he lost
By lacke of stooping.

Auf.
That I would haue spoke of:
Being banish'd for't, he came vnto my Harth,
Presented to my knife his Throat: I tooke him,
Made him ioynt-seruant with me: Gaue him way
In all his owne desires: Nay, let him choose
Out of my Files, his proiects, to accomplish
My best and freshest men, seru'd his designements
In mine owne person: holpe to reape the Fame
Which he did end all his; and tooke some pride
To do my selfe this wrong: Till at the last
I seem'd his Follower, not Partner; and
He wadg'd me with his Countenance, as if I had bin Mercenary.

1. Con.
So he did my Lord:
The Army marueyl'd at it, and in the last,
When he had carried Rome, and that we look'd
For no lesse Spoile, then Glory.

Auf.
There was it:
For which my sinewes shall be stretcht vpon him,
At a few drops of Womens rhewme, which are
As cheape as Lies; he sold the Blood and Labour
Of our great Action; therefore shall h e dye,
And Ile renew me in his fall. But heerke.

Drummes and Trumpets sounds, with great showts of the people.

1. Con.
Your Native Towne you enter'd like a Poste,
And had no welcomes home, but he returnes
Splitting the Ayre with noyse.

2. Con.
And patient Fooles,
Whose children he hath slaine, their base throats teare
With giuing him glory.

3. Con.
Therefore at your vantage,
Ere he expresse himselfe, or moue the people
With what he would say, let him feele your Sword:
Which we will second, when he lies along
After your way. His Tale pronounc'd, shall bury His Reasons, with his Body.

Auf.
Say no more. Heere come the Lords,
Enter the Lords of the City.

All Lords.
You are most welcome home.

Auff.
I haue not deseru'd it.
But worthy Lords, haue you with heede perused
What I haue written to you?

All.
We haue.

1. Lord.
And greuue to heare't:
What faults he made before the last, I thinke
Might haue found easie Fines: But there to end
Where he was to begin, and giue away
The benefit of our Leuies, answering vs
With our owne charge: making a Treatie, where There was a yeelding; this admits no excuse.
cc3Auf.

The Tragedie of Coriolanus.

Auf.
He approaches, you shall heare him.

Enter Coriolanus marching with Drumme, and Colours. The Commoners being with him.

Corio.
Haile Lords, I am return'd your Souldier:
No more infected with my Countries loue
Then when I parted hence: but still subsisting
Vnder your great Command. You are to know,
That prosperously I haue attempted, and
With bloody passage led your Warres, euen to
The gates of Rome: Our spoiles we haue brought home
Doth more then counterpoize a full third part
The charges of the Action. We haue made peace
With no lesse Honor to the Antiates
Then shame to th'Romaines. And we heere deliuer
Subscrib'd by'th'Consuls, and Patricians,
Together with the Seale a'th Senat, what We haue compounded on.

Auf.
Read it not Noble Lords,
But tell the Traitor in the highest degree
He hath abus'd your Powers.

Corio.
Traitor? How now?

Auf.
I Traitor, Martius.

Corio.
Martius?

Auf.
I Martius, Caius Martius: Do'st thou thinke
Ie grace thee with that Robbery, thy stolne name
Coriolanus in Corioles?
You Lords and Heads a'th'State, perfidiously
He ha's betray'd your businesse, and giuen vp
For certaine drops of Salt, your City Rome:
I say your City to his Wife and Mother,
Breaking his Oath and Resolution, like
A twist of rotten Silke, neuer admitting Counsaile a'th'warre: But at his Nurses teares
He whin'd and roar'd away your Victory,
That Pages blush'd at him, and men of heart
Look'd wond'ring each at others.

Corio.
Hear'st thou Mars?

Auf.
Name not the God, thou boy of Teares.

Corio.
Ha?

Aufid.
No more.

Corio.
Measurelesse Lyar, thou hast made my heart
Too great for what contains it. Boy? Oh Slave,
Pardon me Lords, 'tis the first time that euer
I was forc'd to scoul'd. Your judgments my graue Lords
Must giue this Curre the Lye: and his owne Notion,
Who weares my stripes imprest vpon him, that Must beare my beating to his Graue, shall ioyne
To thrust the Lye vnto him.

1 Lord.
Peace both, and heare me speake.

Corio.
Cut me to peeces Volces men and Lads,
Staine all your edges on me. Boy, false Hound:
If you haue writ your Annales true, 'tis there,
That like an Eagle in a Doue-coat, I
Flatter'd your Volcians in Corioles.
Alone I did it, Boy.

Auf.
Why Noble Lords,
Will you be put in minde of his blinde Fortune,
Which was your shame, by this vnholie Braggart?
'Tfore your owne eyes, and eares?

All Consp.
Let him dye for't.

All People.
Teare him to peeces, do it presently:
He kill'd my Sonne, my daughter, he kill'd my Cosine
Marcus, he kill'd my Father.

2 Lord.
Peace hoe: no outrage, peace:
The man is Noble, and his Fame folds in
This Orbe o'th'earth: His last offences to vs
Shall haue Iudicious hearing. Stand Auffidius,
And trouble not the peace.

Corio.
O that I had him, with six Auffidiusses, or more:
His Tribe, to vse my lawfull Sword.

Auf.
Insolent Villaine.

All Consp.
Kill, kill, kill, kill, kill him.

Draw both the Conspirators, and kill Martius, who falles, Auffidius stands on him.

Lords.
Hold, hold, hold, hold.

Auf.
My Noble Masters, heare me speake.

1. Lord.
O Tullius.

2. Lord.
Thou hast done a deed, whereat Valour will weep.

3. Lord.
Tread not vpon him Masters, all be quiet, Put vp your Swords.

Auf.
My Lords, When you shall know (as in this Rage Prouok'd by him, you cannot) the great danger Which this mans life did owe you, you'll reioyce That he is thus cut off. Please it your Honours To call me to your Senate, Ile deliuer My selfe your loyall Seruant, or endure Your heaviest Censure.

1. Lord.
Beare from hence his body, And mourne you for him. Let him be regarded As the most Noble Coarse, that euer Herald Did follow to his Vrne.

2. Lord.
His owne impatience, Takes from Auffidius a great part of blame: Let's make the Best of it.

Auf.
My Rage is gone, And I am strucke with sorrow. Take him vp: Helpe three a'th'cheefest Souldiers, Ile be one. Beate thou the Drumme that it speake mournfully: Traile your steele Pikes. Though in this City hee Hath widdowed and vnchilded many a one, Which to this houre bewaile the Injury, Yet he shall haue a Noble Memory. Assist.

Exeunt bearing the Body of Martius. A dead March Sounded.

FINIS.
